

MAN'S RELEASE IS EFFECTED BY SHERLOCK

(By United Press)

GLASGOW, Scotland, Nov. 15.—Oscar Slater, in whose aid Sherlock Holmes emerged quietly but effectively from retirement, was freed yesterday from Peterhead jail, where he had served nearly 20 years for the murder of aged Miss Marion Gilchrist.

Slater announced that he would devote his life to proving his innocence of the murder.

His release—effected by years of investigation, undertaken by Sherlock in the person of the creator, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle—came only a day after the disclosure that police are going fully into the whole case and that a warrant has been issued for a man, said to be prominent, whose identity now is hidden behind the initials "A. B."

Miss Gilchrist was murdered and robbed in 1908. Suspicion attached to Slater. He was extradited from New York, for which he sailed shortly after the murder. Though the clew on which his arrest was decided was proved absolutely false, he was tried and convicted—largely on circumstantial evidence.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle became interested in the case and investigated it. He used the methods of his brain child, Sherlock Holmes and bit by bit ripped to pieces the police case against Slater. It took years.

It was said now that suspicion had attached to "A. B." but that evidence against him—given by Miss Helen Lambie, the murdered woman's servant—was suppressed because of his prominence.

DISMISSAL OF BANK ACTION IS AFFIRMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The Citizens' National bank of Los Angeles again lost the decision when the U. S. court of appeals upheld the U. S. district court at Los Angeles and affirmed the degree of dismissal of the bank's suit against the Santa Rita hotel.

The action was based on alleged worthless pledges amounting to $5000 given by the hotel company as security for a loan.

BANK APPLICATION APPROVED BY WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Will C. Wood, state superintendent of banks, has approved the application for the establishment of the Maywood bank in the town of Maywood, Los Angeles county, with an authorized capital of $100,000 and surplus and contingent fund of $10,000.

P. C. Truman, H. Stanley Benedict, E. M. White, F. V. Phillips and Joe Somo were named as organizers.

Village Featured In Wright Story Sold In Auction

BRANSON, Mo., Nov. 15.—The little town of Garber—population 50—has gone under the hammer. The village in Taney county, featured in Harold Bell Wright's book, "The Shepherd of the Hills," has been purchased by Mrs. Ada Clodfelter. It is one of the oldest towns in the state.

The purchase includes post office, railroad station, buildings and homes.

Grape Price Under Growers' Control

FRESNO, Nov. 15.—Collective action by growers and shippers during the past season in carrying out the clearing house programs of the California Vineyardists association resulted in checking sagging prices, the clearing house division announced.

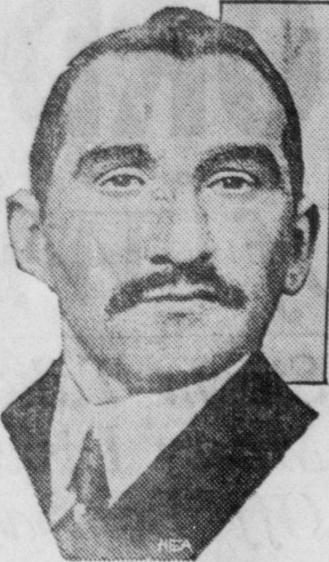

Figures show that definite control was exercised over prices in eastern auctions by means of restricted shipments in an effort to prevent market gluts.

FREED
Oscar Slater owes his freedom to Sherlock Holmes, that famed detective of fiction, in the person of Sherlock's creator, Arthur Conan Doyle. Slater, who served almost 20 years in an English bastile for a murder which he insists he did not commit, was released from prison yesterday.

LAW ON OFFICERS' BONDS CLEARED UP

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—

Leroy McCormick, district attorney for Tulare county, in Visalia, has been advised by H. H. Linney, deputy attorney general, on four points of law in question regarding bonds for deputy county officers.

The four opinions were:

The board of supervisors can fix the amount of bonds after September 1 of the general election years; the board of supervisors has no authority to fix the amount of bonds to be given by a deputy of a county officer; the county should pay the premiums on all such bonds, and a county officer may require his deputies to give a bond and he may fix the amount.

POST OFFICE MAKES READY FOR YULETIDE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The post office department will spend $8,000,000 for handling the 1927 Christmas mail, Postmaster General New announced.

All preparations have been completed for handling the greatest volume of holiday mail in history and postal employees will work Christmas day to get out mail posted late.

General New has authorized the appointment of extra clerks and carriers at most of the 50,000 post offices throughout the country and established temporary terminal railway post office spaces.

While every effort will be made to deliver all mail by Christmas day, New urged early mailing to avoid congestion.

Farm Body Urges Strengthening Of Mississippi Dikes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The American Farm Bureau federation favors strengthening, straightening and raising the height of levees as the first line of Mississippi flood control defense.

Chester H. Grey, of that organization told the house flood control committee that the federation also favors diversion channels or spillways on the lower river.

Representative Leavitt, Republican, Montana, favored storage basins and reservoirs, particularly in Montana.

TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL PLOTS ARE NUMEROUS

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The latest Teapot Dome scandal has opened to public gaze an alleged plot within a plot within a plot—one of the most complicated "stronger-than-fiction" situations ever disclosed.

A stocky, black-haired former army aviator and Philadelphia claim-agent, 31 years old, is the principal actor in the "spying on the jury spies" ramifications. His name is William J. McMullin, although he joined the Burns Detective agency on October 13 as "William V. Long" and worked under the Burns code as "L-86."

Former Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is another principal. When McMullin could not stand continuing what he regarded as dishonest work, he went to Pinchot. He said he knew the Pennsylvania reform leader was square.

McMullin became a Burns operative because he needed a job. His first assignment was the Fall-Sinclair jury-shadowing.

The first conspiracy of the government's case was the alleged one between Fall and Sinclair to defraud the government of the Teapot Dome Naval reserve.

Within that, according to the government, Sinclair conspired with his lieutenants, Day and Clark, to tamper with the jury hearing the Teapot Dome case.

McMullin's information as to the fact of the surveillance led to a government plot whereby the agent remained within the Burns organization, compiled with its wishes and made reports to the government daily on the secret meetings and activities of the sleuths.

The reason for McMullin's use of an assumed name in Burns' employment is not known. But his home is in Philadelphia, and he may have feared his friends and acquaintances might embarrass him in his new work.

The new agent was assigned to shadow Juror Norman Glascock, the man upon whom the jury-shadowers decided to have their evidence looking to a mistrial, according to government attorneys. McMullin used his own automobile, which he drove from Philadelphia, and he also acted as chauffeur for W. J. Burns when the famous detective was in Washington.

Owen J. Roberts, chief of government counsel and another Philadelphian, was the man who directed McMullin to continue his spy work, after Pinchot had sent McMullin to him on October 24.

The 14 other Burns agents, who with "Long" have loitered in the corridors of the courthouse here under grand jury subpoenas for the last two weeks, following their jury surveillance, suspected a "leak." They were alarmed and puzzled by their inability to locate it. Some disclosed their anxiety to newspapermen, as the result of government information regarding their "pep" meetings and some mysterious telephone calls.

"Long" kept up the pretense well, going so far as to confront the Justice department official whom he, in a false Burns affidavit, accused of contact with Juror Glascock. This face-to-face meeting was arranged by the district attorney to keep other agents from suspecting "Long's" duplicity. "Long" said he did not recognize the official as the driver of an automobile bearing license tag "P-1738," who, his affidavit said, conversed at length with Glascock.

LAST RITES HELD

LA HABRA, Nov. 15.—Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Nicolas, 67, housekeeper for the past two years at the Henri Clayton home, were held this morning at the McAulay and Suter undertakers at Fullerton, with interment in Loma Vista cemetery. Death came Sunday morning at the Orange County hospital, where she had been taken Thursday.

Representative Leavitt, Republican, Montana, favored storage basins and reservoirs, particularly in Montana.

EDUCATOR CHARGES WIFE IS MURDERESS

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 15.—James Stuart Dales, secretary of the board of regents at the University of Nebraska, has filed suit for divorce from his wife on the ground that she is a murderer and has a prison record.

She concealed her past when they were married three years ago and Dales fears for his safety, his petition states. Discovery that he was her fifth husband was another reason given for the divorce action.

His wife admits she divorced her first two husbands and killed her third, but she insists Dales had been apprised of her past before they were married. For the slaying of her third husband, Mrs. Dales received a one to 10-year sentence in the Nebraska penitentiary.

Pain in Your Shoulder?

It's Probably Neuritis; Use Tysmol for Relief

Knife-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area. This relieves the pain rapidly as it quickly absorbs through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves. The pains usually stop at once, and the shoulder is free the last trace of stiffness should disappear.

Tysmol is absolutely harmless—free from dope. Recommended for all forms of nerve pain, whether caused by neuritis, rheumatism, sciatica, rheumatism. You can get a good supply for $1 at any drug store. Always on hand at Stein's.

The last year has been a good one for our members," Ralph W. Simmonds, Detroit, president of the Associated Stock Exchanges, told members of that organization, in convention here.

"This has been a year of advancing markets, cheap money and sustained buying power," Simmonds said. "With the dwindling of the Florida land boom, the financial pirates again have returned to the securities field for plunder. The most recent turn in their operation has been the rampant issuance of tipster sheets, the earmarks of which are familiar to all. The mails continually are being used to defraud the public.

"There are two ways in which we can help stamp this out. First we should make the purchasing of our own legitimate securities more attractive by speaking the language of the people.

"The second way is to encourage victims to submerge their pride and prosecute each case vigorously."

Kids Telephone Girl, Is Jailed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A telephone girl he tried to kid, killed Elmet Mainhart, cigar store clerk, into court here.

Elmet, according to Miss Frances Unsinger, "phone girl" at the Y. W. C. A., managed to get a view—just how she doesn't know—of the Y. W. C. A. swimming pool. Then he returned to his store and telephoned her, asking for names, addresses and telephone numbers of some of the swimmers.

She kept up the conversation while another girl telephoned the police. Elmet was arrested while he was still "kidding." He was found guilty of disturbing the peace.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION OF CARS TODAY

Four persons were injured, one seriously, as the result of an automobile collision near Talbert at 9:30 a. m. today.

Theresa Barra, Talbert, was reported seriously hurt, and Anna, Pretre and Santiago Barra, all occupants of one of the machines were injured. They were taken to the Huntington Beach emergency hospital for treatment.

According to a report made by Harry Carter, deputy sheriff, who made an investigation, the accident occurred when an automobile driven by Martin Perra, and occupied by the Barra family, collided with a car driven by Okado. No one in the Okado machine was reported hurt.

HEAD HUNTERS FEARED ACTIVE IN SOUTH SEAS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Fears that the natives of the Solomon islands, pin-prick dots in the far South Pacific, may have released the turkeys from the tops of store buildings carried an element of risk, and that the council did not want to be in the position of granting permission for anything that might result in serious injury to individuals or to property along the streets.

The opinion was expressed that in the mad scramble that would follow the releasing of the birds some one might be very seriously hurt, or damage done to plate glass windows. Comment was made on the possibility of the streets being jammed by humans with each individual anticipating grabbing a turkey as the fowl landed in the crowd.

His case was called yesterday, but Wolfe was granted a week's continuance. He is free on bail of $10,000.

The council pictured a jammed street from Ross to French streets and commented on many possible situations that might result in injury to persons or property. It was stressed that probably children would predominate in the crowd. Comment also was made on the prospect of the turkeys being cruelly treated.

Accept Denial

The directors asserted that they did not want to be responsible, either for a stunt that might result in injury to persons or damage to property, and that they would rather call off the project than continue it if there was danger of any one being hurt. They accepted the decision of the council gracefully, and declared abandonment of the tussle.

It was proposed by the directors that a "walnut scramble" be substituted for the tussle, but the council objected to this on the ground that the throwing of nuts from the tops of buildings would be just as dangerous as the releasing of birds. It was proposed to scatter 10,000 walnuts, 150 of which would contain numbers corresponding to numbers placed in business houses, with the holders of the numbers being rewarded with turkeys.

Asks for Bids

The city wants to sell approximately 120 acres of its sewer farm, and last night directed the city clerk to advertise for bids for the property. bids to be opened on the evening of December 5.

Complaint of J. W. Dewey that escaping steam from equipment of a nearby cleaning establishment was detrimental to his property at 1315 North Main street, was referred to the city manager.

The Cop Electric company was given permission to erect an electric sign for the Rossmore hotel, at 408 North Sycamore street.

Following recommendations of the city planning commission, changes were made in the zoning ordinance to comply with requests of W. H. Dixson and W. E. Chisholm. The former changes the situation at Cypress and McFadden to permit building of duplex houses Chisholm applied for inclusion in the business district of 75 feet on East First street, moving the line east to a north and south alley between Cypress and Orange. Harry D. Riley was given permission to erect a garage building on the southeast corner of Main and Myrtle streets, providing he recognizes the 10-foot set back line on the street.

The city attorney was directed to prepare an ordinance establishing a set-back line on Main street, from First to Sixth. The line will conform with that already established north and south of the two points.

Under the leadership of Bishop Epalle, the Mission of the Society of Mary, the first missionary project in the islands, was established in 1845. The bishop and three others of his party were massacred and the mission was abandoned in 1847.

In 1859 the British man-o'-war, H. M. S. Cordelia, visited the islands in response to a report that three white traders had fallen victims to the head-hunting practices of the natives. By this time most of the islands in the group were under the protectorate of Great Britain and English battleships visited them annually for the result of the slaughter of white settlers.

The natives of Solomon islands still firmly believe in the power of magic and upon this belief base great many of their weird religious ceremonies. Certain persons are believed to be infested with witchery or Mba, as the natives know it. Mba is a form of malignant magic, enabling its possessor to cast disease upon the body of another person.

The question for debate was: "Resolved: That the Installment Plan of Buying as Developed during the Past 10 Years is Detrimental." The Santa Ana students upheld the affirmative side of the question while Orange high school's representatives, Ed Guileck and Miss Levina Compton, were on the negative side.

Tomorrow night the same question will be threshed out again at Orange high school with the debaters taking opposite sides.

CITY COUNCIL PUTS BAN ON BUSINESS MEN'S PLANS FOR TURKEY SCRAMBLE SATURDAY

Residents of Santa Ana who visioned a free turkey as the result of announcement by the Business men's association that it would liberate 150 turkeys here Saturday will have to seek their Thanksgiving turkeys elsewhere, for the city council last night denied permission for the closing of Fourth street, from Ross to French, and Main street, from Third to Fifth.

Denial of the request for permission to close the streets killed the proposed novel stunt, and the association will dispose of more than $600 worth of turkeys purchased for the stunt.

At a conference yesterday afternoon, members of the city council told members of the board of directors of the Business men's association that the proposed release of the turkeys from the tops of store buildings carried an element of risk, and that the council did not want to be in the position of granting permission for anything that might result in serious injury to individuals or to property along the streets.

The opinion was expressed that in the mad scramble that would follow the releasing of the birds some one might be very seriously hurt, or damage done to plate glass windows. Comment was made on the possibility of the streets being jammed by humans with each individual anticipating grabbing a turkey as the fowl landed in the crowd.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Father of Little Women

Controversy concerning the importance of Bronson Alcott, father of Little Women, and his teachings has been rampant in this country. He has left for Honore Willis Morrow to finally present an accurate picture of his life and his beliefs.

In charming manner she has written this biography, information for which has been gained from his diary kept throughout his life.

According to the author the book is not a biography. She writes, "It is merely an attempt to retrieve something infinitely precious that has long been misled in America: namely Bronson Alcott's theory of the best method to educate young children."

Miss Morrow attempts to excuse Alcott for the neglecting of his family and for his inability to hold a position as school teacher. She proves the genius of the man through frequent philosophical quotations from his diary which had little in it to do with facts of the outside world.

Dostoevsky

Although Dostoevsky has not been widely known in America as his books were naturally published in Russian, this story of his life

A New Quick Dessert
By VIRGINIA HOLMES Famous Hostess

I've just discovered a new simple dessert—Loganberry Jell-well as a base. It solves the problem of a quick, healthful, de-lightful dessert that is suitable for any occasion.

I knew that you would like to have this recipe so I'm passing it along to you.

Sponge Cake with Jell-well Cream Whip

Serves Six

1 package Loganberry JELL-WELL

1/2 pint whipping cream

6 stale macarons

1/2 cup fresh fruit

Deserve Jell-well according to directions on package. When Jell-well begins to thicken heat with water until light and fruity. Fold in the whipped cream and crumble macarons. When well set, allow sponge cake served on individual plates. Allow to remain in cool place until served. And flavor Jell-well may be used in the sponge cake. In season try fresh fruit instead of macarons.

STATE TRAFFIC INSPECTOR FOR COUNTY NAMED

Fred T. Zimmerman, Inspector for the California Motor Vehicle department, with headquarters in Los Angeles, has been appointed Inspector for this district, succeeding Walter Greer, Inspector, who was transferred last week. It was announced today.

Zimmerman was in Santa Ana today on his first business trip connected with his new territory. He also will have the officers in Imperial, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties under him, he said.

Zimmerman is well known here, having made a number of official visits to the Orange county squad during the past several years and has some close friends on the local squad.

as told by his wife, Anna Gregorovna Dostoevsky, would delight anyone. Her descriptions of the dire poverty to which they were subjected on one hand, and the accounts of the days of comfort on the other are filled with a note of courage which makes them worth while philosophically, if for no other reason.

Besides being the wife of a genius, Madame Dostoevsky was a genius herself. Her bibliographical index relating to the life and activities of Fiodor Dostoevsky contains about 5000 entries, and represents a unique achievement in Russian bibliography. She also prepared a most comprehensive description of all the materials collected in the Dostoevsky department of the Moscow Historical museum which include Dostoevsky's numerous manuscripts, note-books, letters, portraits, and all books and articles written by him either in Russian or foreign languages.

The Kingdom of Books

There has ever been a kingdom, over the borders of which book-lovers have gazed in longing fashion, wishing that they knew the password by which they might enter. It has been the kingdom of books! And at last a way for their entering this kingdom has been provided by William Dana Orcutt who, himself, has long been seeking the way.

He carries the willing journeyer with him back to the days when papyrus workers of Egypt and the paper makers of China would unfold their secrets, when ancient scribes and skilled illuminators would tell of the responsibility they accepted in giving man's thought an appropriate vehicle, when the jewelers' and goldsmiths of the Byzantines would reveal the fact that even solid gold, inlaid with precious stones, was not considered too costly a material for enshrinement that most priceless gem of all in the covers which they wrought.

AL PUTS OVER ANOTHER K. O.

Al Smith smiled confidently, as you see here, when he cast his ballot on a voting machine in Brooklyn in the New York state elections. And sure enough, when the tabulation was made it was found he had added another K. O. to his political victories; the voters approved eight amendments to the state constitution which he sponsored and defeated a ninth, which he opposed.

COUNTY BOARD CANCELS WORK TO EAT DUCKS

The struggle didn't last long today in the county supervisor's chamber. The officials gathered as per schedule around the table piled with work. But an invitation to a duck dinner, aided and abetted by the lure of California sunshine filtering through the poinsettias at the windows, led them out of doors and onto the open road before they realized what had happened.

The chief business transacted consisted of calling the meeting to order and adjourning until 10 a.m. tomorrow. Meanwhile the supervisors, with J. M. Backs, county clerk, will fortify themselves against the routine work in store for them by participating in the annual duck dinner at San Bernardino, where plans are being laid for the National Orange show of 1927.

County officials and prominent residents from all over Southern California are to be at the affair tonight. The interest with which the event is awaited was evidenced several weeks ago when the invitation was accepted by the local body without comment or objection. Several members of the board were detected smacking their lips, however, as the clerk read the request for their presence.

The alacrity with which the formality of opening and closing today's session was performed leaves little doubt that reminiscences of a great time will be passed around with the cigar smoke when the board re-convenes tomorrow.

WAIVE HEARING ON CHARGES OF TURKEY THEFTS

Harold Via and Thomas E. LeBel, admitted turkey thieves, waived preliminary examination in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court late yesterday and were held to answer to the superior court.

Both men are expected to plead guilty to the theft of approximately 260 turkeys from Orange county poultry men, during the past several weeks, officers said. Neither has procured the services of an attorney.

All of the 260 turkeys have been recovered, according to F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, who said that he also had found 30 chickens, the owners of which he is seeking.

LeBel and Via may be taken before the superior court this afternoon or tomorrow morning, it was said.

LARGEST BAIL IS ASKED IN LIQUOR CASE

Three of the five men arrested Saturday when deputy sheriffs raided an old barn near Westminster and found the largest illegal liquor "factory" ever uncovered in Orange county, were arraigned today before Justice Kenneth Morrison on a felony charge, owning and operating a still. Another was freed by officers after they were convinced that he was not connected with the gang, and the fifth is being held for investigation, pending a further check-up on his recent activities, it was said.

James Partin, Peter DeMarco and H. Mainsohn were arraigned this morning and their preliminary examination set for next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Bail in each of their cases was set at $10,000, the highest bail ever asked in a liquor case in this county.

Efforts were made to have the court lower the amount of bail, but Morrison contended that from recent experiences with liquor prisoners, he did not feel that $10,000 was too great an amount to ask.

John Treedo, milkman, of Westminster, was freed from jail this morning, and Thomas Leal, also of Westminster, is being held for investigation. No information has been filed on Leal, it was said.

CITIES VICTORIOUS IN PHONE HEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Rejecting the application of the Pomona Valley Telephone and Telegraph union for authority to divide its territory into three separate exchange areas with long distance tolls from one to the other, the State Railroad commission today fixed rates for telephone service by that company considerably lower than the company requested.

The decision of the commission is a distinct victory for the cities of Pomona, Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and Chino, it was pointed out.

MANCHESTER BOULEVARD BODY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING AND CELEBRATES AT BUENA PARK

With officials of two counties—Los Angeles and Orange—now earnestly co-operating in bringing into realization the highway project, in which members of the Greater Manchester Improvement association have centered their interest for the past three and one-half years, and with the condemnation proceedings expected to begin soon on the first unit of the new 100-foot roadway, the third annual meeting of the road association, held last night in the Masonic temple, Buena Park, was a glorious celebration.

The jubilation over the important accomplishments of the past found expression, first, in a demonstration following the unanimous re-election of Sam Dudlext as president of the association and of Louis A. Griley as secretary-treasurer. Both of these officers have served the association in their present capacities since its organization.

Hogan Wilford, chairman of the association's construction committee who also has served as second vice-president for the past year, was re-elected by acclamation. The only change in leadership came through the unanimous election of Walter Greening, prominent Norwalk banker and subdivider, to the post of first vice-president.

President Dudlext presided over the opening business session of the meeting, later turning the gavel over to the Hon. Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, president of the Harbor District chamber of commerce, who acted as toastmaster during the after-dinner speech making period.

The affair opened with a chicken banquet served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Buena Park Community church with places laid for nearly 200 persons representing nearly every community on the route of the proposed Manchester highway including Ingleside, Los Angeles, Graham, South Gate, North Buena Park, Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana.

Reports Made

Reports by Construction Chairman Wilford and Secretary-Treasurer Griley, on the association's progress during the past year featured the opening sessions of the meeting.

Mr. Wilford reported that plans for the opening of Manchester road from Ingleside to Soute Gate are now 90 per cent complete and that the plans for opening that section from South Gate to the Orange county line are now 85 per cent complete. Plans are expected to be ready for the surveyors by December 1, he stated.

Secretary Griley reported that the association now has 184 active members and has had, during its 3 1/2 years of existence, a total of 380 names on its membership rolls.

Following an address of welcome made by William Schumacher, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange chamber of commerce, was introduced to give the opening address of the evening on the subject of "Transportation Problems of the Immediate Future."

Johnson Speaks

The agricultural and industrial development of the United States is dependent directly upon the development of our transportation facilities, the speaker declared. The modern distribution problem is to hold transportation costs down to the minimum. "Nation wide planning of highways, railroad lines, water lines and air lanes should be undertaken to solve the ever growing distribution problem in America," he said.

Similar sentiments were expressed by Dr. Walter L. Bigham, chairman of Anaheim's newly formed Planned Commission, who stated in the case today.

C. W. Yonge, formerly connected with the Yonge-Elliott company of Santa Ana, charged with embezzlement, was today held to answer to the superior court, at the conclusion of his preliminary examination, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Yonge is charged by L. E. Smith, former secretary and treasurer of the company with embezzlement of $333 of the company's money, according to the complaint which Smith signed.

Smith was the principal witness

According to the complaint, the crime is alleged to have been committed in April, 1927. The complaint was signed on October 19, 1927.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR $30,000 STARTED HERE

H. D. Eby, 1469 Orange avenue, today filed a $30,000 damage suit in the Superior court against Dora D. Stoker, of Long Beach, alleging that she is responsible for an automobile accident last June as a result of which he lost his right hand and forearm.

In addition to the loss of his hand, he declared that his left arm is permanently injured and useless to him.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the Huntington Beach boulevard and Seventeenth street, while Eby was riding as a passenger in a Fluor Construction company truck, according to the complaint. He charges that the defendant's car collided with the truck and that he was thrown to the pavement where several bones in his hand and arm were broken.

DR. T. S. BLAIR WILL LECTURE ON OLD BIBLE

Doctor T. S. Blair, in his lecture at the Y. M. C. A. on Old Testament problems Thursday evening, will undertake to discuss some very difficult questions encountered by every student of the Bible, he announced today.

"The old apocalyptic writings have long been a field for controversy," said Dr. Blair. "The books of Daniel and Revelation have been interpreted and evaluated by students from every angle, and almost everything imaginable has been read into them by earnest seekers after truth. Many modern students have re-evaluated these books, and have rejected much of the old theory that has been connected with them. In the lecture Thursday evening, we shall try to review these new studies of the books, and shall present the reasons advanced by students for rejecting certain 'millenium' theories which have disturbed the peace of mind of many sincere Christians. Undoubtedly many people will disagree heartily with the thoughts thus presented, but it will be wholesome for all who are interested to be informed of the views with which they do not agree."

Doctor Blair lectures at 7:30 p.m. Men and women are invited to attend. There is no charge for admission.

According to Secretary Smedley the course of lectures is an attempt to set forth in a clear and popular manner various views of the Old Testament, in the light of modern research. Dr. Blair presents many ideas with which he is not in personal agreement, and he endeavors to make it plain that he is not attempting to convert his hearers to any special line of theology, but that his effort is strictly to set forth what students have been thinking about, leaving it to his hearers to form their own opinions.

SHRINERS PLAN TEN CONCERTS DURING WINTER

Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, has completed arrangements for a series of 10 popular, light operas at Shrine auditorium. It was announced here today by J. O. Fyle, president of the Orange County Shrine club.

The first opera is planned for December 26. There will be nightly performances, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. A different opera will be presented each week. The opera will be given by an organization of 122 people, including 12 principals from New York, a chorus of 60 recruited from musical talent in Southern California, and a unit of 16 dancers and a symphony concert of 36.

According to Fyle, the opera management at the Shrine auditorium is already receiving applications from Southern California singers and artists who will be required.

The best compositions of Victor Herbert, Gilbert and Sullivan, Franz Lahar, Leo Fall, Reginald DeKoven, Rudolf Friml and others will be selected.

"This undertaking is the greatest of its kind ever assumed by an organization in Southern California, and it is Al Malaikah's contribution to the community for its cultural enjoyment under ideal conditions," Fyle said.

STATE RULING MAY SHUT OUT LOCAL AIRPORT

A campaign to force all airport operators to carry protective insurance on all pilots employed by them has been launched by the State Industrial Accident and Safety commission, it was made known here today. B. F. Lord, official of the State Industrial Accident and Safety commission has written several letters to Eddie Martin here during the past few months ordering Martin to secure insurance on his pilots.

The campaign threatens to cost Santa Ana its airport, according to Martin. Martin declares rates on insurance for pilots is so high that it is prohibitive. Insurance companies refuse to handle pilot insurance and the state cannot furnish the insurance for less than $1180 per man.

Martin employs two pilots. Both men are used only at rush periods and work sometimes only five or six hours a week. The local airport operator declares that if he is forced to take out insurance for his two pilots he will have to close his airport as the total insurance would amount to $2360 per year. This sum only protects the pilots to the extent of about $18 per week, Martin states, and is hardly worth while bothering with as far as protection goes.

The local airport owner has carried compensation insurance on all his mechanics since establishing the field, he declares. The state accident commission, according to Martin, informed him that the insurance was not sufficient.

Martin states that so far as he knows he is the only airport owner and operator in Southern California who has received orders to insure pilots. He declares that the proposition if carried out and with the present high rates would cause many ports to go out of business.

Martin, so he says, has endeavored to secure policies for the pilots but has failed to do so and the state insurance is too expensive to allow him to operate. Just what steps will be taken in the matter by the state accident commission is not known. Martin is awaiting further word before deciding just what steps he will take. He has investigated and declares that as far as he can learn no move is being made to force other airport operators to obtain insurance for pilots.

SECRETARY FROM CHINA IS SPEAKER ON CONDITIONS IN ORIENT AT Y.M.C.A. MEETING

Lawrence Todnem, American Y. M. C. A. secretary from Tsinanfu, China, spoke yesterday before a group of men at the Y. M. C. A. concerning the work of the association in China, and the recent political developments in that land. He has quite recently come from his work in China on his regular furlough, and while his family is located in Berkeley, he is visiting associations in this part of the country to give information on work in his adopted land.

According to Todnem, the present revolution in China is a natural result of the awakening of the people, and the revolutionary conditions will continue until some permanent solution is worked out.

"International meddling with China's home affairs has no doubt complicated her problems," said Todnem, "but these international questions are only the minor phases of China's difficulties. Even if these did not exist, China would be in revolution today. The impact of western trade, western political thought, and western culture, have created so many new demands and have caused such dissatisfaction for the old order among the Chinese people that revolution expressed in force has been inevitable."

"The most significant revolution in China is not the visible revolution of violence, but rather the underlying social revolution growing out of the great changes in thought and ideals. Nevertheless, since the Chinese people are as human as the rest of the world, a revolution of violence must result from these conditions. True to human nature, they have resorted to force to change conditions, but they have a long road to travel yet."

"Peace will not come soon in China, America, England, France and Japan can do little, as nations, to help China until they rewrite some of their old treaties, and bring them up to date. And there is reason to believe that all of these nations are ready to do this very thing just as soon as China is sufficiently settled to undertake such an important task."

"No national influence from the outside can solve China's problems. To interfere would only aggravate the situation. The nationalist spirit is strong in China now that any aid to conquest by an outside nation given to any of the struggling factions would be deeply resented by a great mass of the Chinese people."

"China is not seriously anti-foreign, but she is tremendously pro-Chinese, and where foreign interests conflict with the Chinese interests, she is always against the foreigners. Where such a conflict does not exist, China is as friendly as ever. Everywhere I am asked if China is anti-Christian. China is not anti-Christian, but certain groups in her society have been. The communist party has in its program the destruction of all religions. In addition, there are a few groups who have been disappointed in Christianity or the church, and they have adopted anti-Christian policies. The communists would des-

Tha William H. Johnson, of Orange, who died October 28, left an estate valued at $40,000, was revealed today when the will was filed for probate at the office of the county clerk. The property consists chiefly of stocks, bonds and securities, according to the petition, in which Charles M. Swank, brother-in-law of Johnson, is named as executor.

Mrs. Florence B. Johnson, his widow, is bequeathed securities valued at $18,000. Harlan S. Johnson, of Orange, a son, Marie Bedortha, a daughter, of Pueblo, Colo. Florence M. Lowrie of Denver, Colo. a daughter, and Faith Winifred Sears, a daughter of Santa Barbara, are to have an inheritance valued in each case at $4000, according to the terms of the will. The document was made on June 9, 1927.

HOLD STANTON MAN ON BOOZE CHARGE

Juan Chavez, 39, Stanton resident, was arrested at Talbert last night by Deputy Sheriffs Humiston and Scott and is being held in the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor.

The officers were called to Talbert when it was reported that Chavez was disturbing the peace there. When they arrived they found a small amount of liquor in Chavez's pocket.

He probably will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison this afternoon.

Boys Of Y. M. C. A. Plan Two Parties

T. P. McKee, of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., has sent out announcements to the boys of his department for two of the monthly "parties" to which the boys of the Y have learned to look forward with keen anticipation.

Friday evening is the time set for the younger boys, under 12 years of age, to enjoy a program of entertainment and fun, including a very special swim and a showing of a good motion picture. The older boys, 12 to 14 years of age, will have a similar program on Saturday evening.

Another social affair for the older fellows, known as the "True Blues," will be announced for an evening next week, according to McKee, whose pleasure it is to provide for the entertainment of his boys' groups each month.

FIRE WARDEN NOT COUNTY OFFICER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Deputy Attorney General Charles A. Wetmore, in a letter to James C. Hollingsworth, district attorney of Ventura county, said that there was no provision of law which creates a fire warden as a county officer or gives authority to the board of supervisors to appoint a fire warden with deputies as a permanent county officer or employee.

Wetmore said that the board of supervisors may appropriate a sum of money for the protection of the forests, brush and grass lands or to assist government rangers with their work, but no permanent office could be created.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD
CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 15.—The Aga Khan, one of the wealthiest of Indian potentates, gets an annual salary based on his poundage. The prince is spiritual chief of the Ismaili sect of Mohammedans and is paid his weight in gold every year. He now weighs 220 pounds and is one fat man who is not dieting.

Capitalizing On Public Sympathy Brings Troubles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Because he is alleged to have capitalized the public's sympathy for blind persons, a Chicago rug maker has been named defendant in a complaint filed with the federal trade commission, charging unfair competition.

The output of rugs of an institution for the blind was purchased until a year ago, by the Lighthouse Rug company, Chicago, but when the institution discontinued manufacture of rugs, the company is said to have employed in its factory several former inmates. The complaint charges the rug manufacturer advertised as products of blind weavers in his factory, products turned out by persons with good sight.

NEW TOBACCO STORE OPENED

PARIS, Nov. 15.—A new tobacco shop of the most up-to-date and luxurious type has been opened in the Champs Elysees, next door to the new and glittering arcade. It is a sign of the modernization of the French tobacco trade, for not long ago the smoker could satisfy his needs only in the dingy little bistro, where the sale of tobacco contended with that of drink and postage stamps, where cigarettes were handed out in screws of paper and change was always unobtainable.

There are few independent tobacco shops in Paris. The trade is a strict government monopoly, the profits are fixed at six to nine per cent, and it is difficult to make a living by the sale of tobacco only. Indeed, it is impossible in the more expensive quarters, where rents are high and appearance must be kept up.

The Champs Elysees shop could count on a dead loss if it were not for the sales of expensive smokers' luxuries—long, elaborate cigarette holders, ash trays, cigar and cigarette boxes, cigar cutters and cases. Ever since the new shops began to open the tobacco dealers have been at war with the regie over this question. They argue that the better class of shops cannot keep open on a profit of nine per cent and point for proof to the fact that many tobacco shops have been closed and sold at Strasburg and Mulhouse since the French administration took them over.

Yet the regie does not quite refuse to move. After the war an effort was made to improve the earnings of the state monopoly by improving the quality and appearance of its goods and increasing their variety.

King Of Siam Is Cutting Expenses

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 15.—The King of Siam has cut down the royal elephant herd in the interests of economy.

Aiming to set an example for a state which has long found it difficult to make its budget balance, King Prajadhipok started by wielding the axe on the accounts of the royal household. First the dispensable servants were dismissed, and then the royal elephant herd, which is used on all occasions of state was reduced drastically.

For several years Siam has been trying to bring its expenses inside its income, and the country's finances, now promises to grow to a healthier state.

AT LAST SHE IS FREE

CONSTANTINA BULONE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—When a pistol shot rang out in the darkness the other night and ended the career of "Big Joe" Lonardo, rum runner and bootlegger de luxe, it brought to an end the strange, melodramatic captivity of Constantina Bulone, 24-year-old daughter of Italy.

Constantina is preparing to return to her home in Italy. After spending a year in this country she is to be deported. She left Italy a prisoner, came to America a prisoner and remained a prisoner all the time she was here—until Lonardo, her captor, was murdered in a rum feed.

The girl told her story to J. Arthur Fluckey, U. S. immigration commissioner here, through an interpreter. Despite her long stay here she had never learned a word of English. Lonardo, who kept her a prisoner in a luxurious house, had seen to that. She had seen virtually no one but him.

It was a little more than a year ago that Constantina met Lonardo. Met Him In Italy.

She was living in Licata, Italy. She had been married a short time before and her husband had gone to America. They had arranged that she would follow him as soon as he had found a good job.

Then Lonardo appeared on the scene.

A native of Italy, he had been living in America for years and was an American citizen. Also, he was a very wealthy man. He was one of the biggest rum runners in northern Ohio and when he wanted something he got it, regardless of money or expense.

Lonardo, seeing Constantina, wanted her. Constantina, in turn, was dazzled by the flashily dressed man from across the sea. Lonardo wore striped silk shirts, natty American suits, had great diamonds on his fingers and in his tie. In his pockets were great rolls of American bills.

He showered gifts and attentions on Constantina. She wavered, then accepted them. Finally Lonardo asked her to go to America with him.

She was afraid to fear her husband.

"Don't worry," said Lonardo. "I'm a big shot in America."

Then a little later came word that Constantina's husband had been shot to death in New York. So Constantina yielded.

Immigration quota restrictions meant nothing to Lonardo. If Constantina had crossed the Atlantic in steerage passage she could not have passed the inspectors; but Lonardo boldly reserved rooms in the first cabin, registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lonardo of Cleveland"—and everything was easy. So Lonardo brought the girl to

GRAVE OF ANCIENT EGYPTIAN LOCATED

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The discovery at Saikara, near Cairo, Egypt, of what is believed to be the tomb of King Zoser, former pharaoh of the third dynasty (about 4000 B. C.), is reported in special dispatches from Cairo.

The find is said to be more important than the discovery of the tomb of King Tut-Ank-Amen.

The work, which was being directed by F. M. Flirth of the antiquities department of the Egyptian government, has been temporarily halted by the caving of a side shaft, leading down to the tomb, but the glint of precious metals far underground has been seen, the dispatches say.

The discovery of a tomb believed to be that of Im-Hotep, architect to King Zoser and builder of the step pyramid near Saikara, was reported by excavators working in that region last March. It was also suggested that the tomb might have been temporarily used by Zoser while the step pyramid was being built or that it might have been that of Zoser's queen.

The third dynasty, known as the Memphite dynasty, two kings, one of them Zoser, built huge mastaba tombs, at Bet Khalaf, near Abydos, farther up the Nile than Saikara. Im-Hotep then built a mightier monument for King Zoser, the step pyramid.

PATE HEAD OF ISABLED VETS HERE TONIGHT

State Commander Richard Ben, of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war, will be honored guest of the Orange County post of the disabled service's organization at a dinner to be served at Ketner's Cafe tonight at 7 o'clock.

Queen, who comes from San Francisco, is paying his first visit to the Orange county post, since it was organized several months ago and the leaders of the organization here are planning a big program in his honor.

The wives, sisters and friends of the disabled men are expected to attend the dinner, and more than 50 persons are expected to present.

County Commander William Murphy will have charge of the meeting. Carl Burns, chairman of the entertainment committee, will act as master of ceremonies and has planned several vaudeville numbers in Queen's honor. The meeting will be strictly a social event and no business will be transacted, according to Jack Fisher, chairman of the publicity committee.

WEIGHTY TESTIMONY FOR FLOOD RELIEF

HUNTINGTON BEACH COUNCIL TAKES NO FURTHER ACTION ON OUSTING OF POLICEMEN

A crowd that jammed the Huntington Beach court house and overflowed into the corridors and out on the steps of the court house, was disappointed last night when no action was taken by the council further than the approval of the appointments of the new chief of police.

It was said that ring leaders who were present to protest the action of the council in discharge of police officers received word from former Chief Jack Tinsley, requesting them to drop the matter and they complied.

When Mayor Boster asked if any one in the audience had anything to say before the council proceeded with its regular order of business, no one spoke.

The city clerk was instructed to draw up recommendations for all of the men removed with the exception of the chief.

Friends of the chief stated last night that he already had received two very attractive offers from nearby cities to take over police work.

Mayor Boster, in discussing the situation last night said: "The new chief is given a free hand in the selection of his force. I believe that no police department in any California city is less interfered with than the Santa Ana police force, in a cut to conform with the number of men allowed this year.

During May, two additional men were put on the force to work during the vacation period, and with its close it was necessary for Chief of Police Claude Rogers to release again, the councilmen want him arrested and booked just as any other offender and the law enforced without favoritism. This matter of the removal is not due to any one incident, even though some incident might have been the last chip added. This matter has been coming for a long time and is the result of reflection and discussion by all members of the council. We have nothing to regret, although we are sorry for those who may be affected by the action. We feel that we are doing our duty as we see it and believe it will work out for the best interests of the community.

The councilmen voted to separate the office of license collector and tax collector from that of the police department by taking a man out from under the jurisdiction of the chief of police and placing him under the city clerk where logically such work comes as a department. This will merely mean the transfer of a man to the clerk's office who will be responsible for the tax and license collection of the city but will work under the clerk instead of under the chief of police.

Application of a large Los Angeles moving van to be given a special permit to move a grocery store to Los Angeles was denied, the council holding that special permits contrary to their ordinances should not be granted. Some stated that there were enough local moving concerns who could do this work.

A guard rail was ordered put across the end of Hill street at the bluff to prevent drivers going over the bluff. The city engineer was ordered to install this 60-foot railing.

On a motion of Dr. G. A. Shank, the city authorized the engineer to install a rain gage so that when newspapers gave rainfall data, Huntington Beach might be mentioned. Mayor Boster said that frequently he read the rain figures of every little cross roads and bean center and yet saw no rainfall figures in the daily papers for Huntington Beach. He believed that if the city had a rain gage they could share in the publicity and advertising given by such a report of rainfall.

After transacting various routine business, granting a permit for a dry gas line to pay the city a cent and a quarter per cubic foot and ordering removal of the city yards, the council adjourned to meet Nov. 28.

High Blood Pressure

For centuries Maguey sap, or Agave-miel, has been cherished in Mexico for its health value. Since the Spanish Conquest, 1642, scientists have studied it. Scores of books published on its use by physicians have long sent patients to Mexico to drink Agave-miel. Now this pleasure-tasting syrup contains no medicine but Agave-miel just as Nature produces it except for removal of water without cooking. Free from preservatives.

Thousands are using Agmel in connection with treatment of high blood pressure. Scientific research now being conducted to determine why Agmel acts as it does in the 16 different ways. Agmel, as easily assimilated carbohydrate with characteristics of the complex sugars, and somewhat similar to glycogen found in normal tissues of the human body. The research also discloses nine valuable minerals, vitamins A, B and C, and an activesome particularly those found with Agave-miel, endorse Agmel. Every physician should investigate it. TWO OFFICERS DROPPED FROM POLICE FORCE

L. M. Ballard and E. P. Wurtz, Santa Ana police officers were today dropped from the pay-roll of the Santa Ana police force, in a cut to conform with the number of men allowed this year.

During May, two additional men were put on the force to work during the vacation period, and with its close it was necessary for Chief of Police Claude Rogers to release again.

The force is allowed 23 men including the chief, he said. During the summer months there were 25 men working.

Unfaithfulness Sought As Only Divorce Grounds

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Unfaithfulness as the only recognized grounds for divorce is recommended in a report being distributed to 10,000 Presbyterian ministers.

The report on revision of the church-recognized grounds for divorce was authorized at the general assembly of the Presbyterian church last May, in San Francisco, and will come before that body for final action at the next meeting, in May, 1928, in Tulsa, Okla.

In a brief on the church and divorce, Dr. Clarence Edward MacCartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa., said divorce is now competing with death as a dissolver of marriages in the United States.

"One out of every six marriages ends in the divorce courts," said the report. "It is easy to demonstrate from history that the increase in divorce, the thawing of family morality and the breakdown of the sanctity of the home have been the heralds of national decline and decay."

On a motion of Dr. G. A. Shank, the city authorized the engineer to install a rain gage so that when newspapers gave rainfall data, Huntington Beach might be mentioned. Mayor Boster said that frequently he read the rain figures of every little cross roads and bean center and yet saw no rainfall figures in the daily papers for Huntington Beach. 600 PEOPLE AT ANNUAL DANCE OF FIRE LADS

More than 600 persons attended the seventh annual carnival dance staged last night by the Santa Ana firemen, at the Central station, Third and Sycamore streets.

The dance was by far the most successful ever given by the local fire fighters, they announced this morning. More tickets were sold and more persons attended than at any dance in years of the past, they declared.

Souvenirs, confetti and streamers were added to the dance this year, turning it into a carnival affair that produced an effect larger than the firemen expected and fortunately, for them, some mischievous boy did not turn in a false alarm to mar the occasion as has been done in the past.

The crowd that attended swelled into the street in front of the station and dancing was enjoyed until after midnight. Chapman's orchestra of nine pieces furnished the music and the firemen served refreshments, served personally by Fire Chief John Luxemburger.

REINHARDT NAMED IN $1,000,000 SUIT

ANAHEIM, Nov. 15.—Organization of a new independent citrus marketing enterprise is an important project just completed here by John H. Ritchie and Edward Mills, well known Anaheim orange men.

The new house is to be known as the R'itchie-Mills Packing company and is to be housed in the remodeled plant of the former Fay Fruit company on the Union Pacific tracks two blocks north of Center street. It will market through the Mutual Orange Distributors association, one of the largest independent citrus organizations operating in California.

Both Ritchie and Mills have been connected with the M. O. D. Anaheim house, the Anaheim Co-Operative Orange association, for the past several years. Ritchie became connected with this house 15 years ago and since 1920 has been manager of it. Mills joined the house as assistant manager in that same year.

With the resignation of Ritchie and Mills, the M. O. D. has named H. W. Pierce, until recently of Claremont, to take Ritchie's place as manager. Pierce is now establishing his family in their new home at 201 East Broadway.

Quarters for the new Ritchie-Mills house have been enlarged to provide a capacity of 10 cars per day. A full size basement has been constructed under the building, which is 135 feet by 80 feet, and an extension has been made to provide room for offices.

F. C. Thompson and daughter, Dorcas, and son, Jim, of Gilbert, Ariz., are visiting her this week. Mr. Thompson is a former postmaster here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Abel and daughter, Miss Ruby, returned Sunday evening from a business trip to Roll, Ariz.

WHAT, NO BURGLARS!

EAST ISLIP, L. I., Nov. 15.—Shortly after midnight, Alfred Hanford awoke and thought he heard burglars downstairs. Revolver in hand, he crept down. Suddenly there was a shot, and Hanford fell. He found he had shot himself in the leg, and managed to call a doctor. Police found no evidence of intruders.

Care of Babies

Why do many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, a first sign of colic; or when you even suspect the approach of constipation or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness cease!

Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Nov. 15.—Plans were made for the coming bazaar of the Ladies aid society at the meeting, December 15, of section three last week at the G. E. Sutton home. Plans were made for the Brotherhood banquet. A comfort was tacked during the afternoon. Present were the Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Dundas, Mrs. E. M. Siebe, Mrs. R. Hodson, Mrs. M. J. Pickering, Mrs. A. H. Parson and Mrs. Robert Carey.

An intensive campaign for membership is being inaugurated this week by the membership of P.T.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams have returned from their home in Elma after several days visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stoutsberg have left for Oxnard, where they will make their home. The latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scott, recently of Richland, Mo., will occupy their home during their absence.

Mrs. Tracy of Sunrise avenue, is expecting her aunt, Mrs. Jessie Clemens, of Des Moines, Iowa, to arrive soon to spend the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ross are the parents of a baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hill have moved to Brea.

CLEANERS AND DYERS OPPOSE STATE RULING

BY ESTO BROUGHTON
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—
"To dye, or not to dye, that is the question:—

Whether it is nobler in the dyers to suffer

The expense and invasions of outraged business:

Or to take exception to a code of regulations,

And by opposing end them?"

Hamlet was in no more awkward dilemma over life and death than the cleaners and dyers in California are since the 1927 legislature "sent them to the cleaners" via regulatory act.

Apparently staging a sartorial clean-up is going to be too expensive for many of them now and they are considering going out of business to save money, according to the many letters of complaint pouring into the capitol daily.

The new opening ante provided by the sojons for carrying on a cleaning business is a $40 per year license fee.

But the opening ante appears to be the slightest cost, one small town cleaner estimated it would cost $10,000 to arrange his plant to comply with the 52 rules issued by Jay W. Stevens, state fire marshal, who is authorized to enforce the act.

Spots on one's clothes may become as indelible as smudges on one's reputation if the cleaners carry out their threats to go out of business rather than rebuild their establishments in conformity with the fire-hazard code drawn up by the marshal.

Not only "fireless" cleaners are guaranteed by the statute, but also "good ones," the marshal being given the right to refuse a license unless the proprietor has "character and ability."

Among the 52 varieties of rules and regulations recently issued is a rule that "singleness of purpose must prevail in the citadel of cleanliness" and it can be used for no other purpose; and one that puts isolation at a premium requiring the "hazardous building must be 12 feet from any other structure."

But the dry cleaners sending out S. O. S.'s for leniency are those who must construct entirely new buildings. Only structures, one story without cellars, of solid brick or concrete with fire-restricting roofs will be permitted by Stevens' edict.

These must be fitted with trick doors and windows which will close by means of a fusible link. The cleaner must be "kept cool" by means of a fan exhaust system and warmed up only by hot water or steam.

Either the cleaners and the public must meet the resulting high cost of cleanliness or humanity must remain under the stern decree of Fire Marshal Stevens, who is insisting that fire hazards must be abated at all costs.

Protesting cleaners maintain that they knew nothing of the new legislation while it was pending at Sacramento, but now they must procure a license or risk a fine of $200, or not less than 30 days in jail for each day they engage in an "unlicensed" effort to remove gravy from its favored refuge on the vest.

OIL CONSERVATION COMMITTEE NAMED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The American Bar association committee to co-operate with the government in framing oil conservation measures, was named today as follows:

James A. Veasey, Tulsa, Okla.; Warren Olney Jr., San Francisco; James W. Finley, Bartlesville, Okla.; F. C. Proctor, Houston, Texas; Henry M. Bates, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Paul M. Gregg, Los Angeles; Clarence M. Martin, Martinsburg, W. Va., and John P. Grey, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875) he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs and pepsin. In 1882 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his preparation was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in

Local Influence Responsible For Minister Change

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 15.—Transfer of the Rev. Jesse P. Boggs from the Trinity M. E. church here to the Trinity in Buffalo, N. Y., was "engineered by fundamentalist members of the local church," it is said here.

Boggs' views against a literal acceptance of the Bible, parishioners said, created dissension. When the Rev. C. W. Sullivan of the Buffalo church, sought a transfer for his health, Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield was appealed to with the result Boggs and Sullivan will exchange pulpits Jan.

HEALTH CAMP FLOAT MAKES FINE SHOWING

Although it didn't win any prizes or attract the attention of all the 40,000 people who witnessed the Armistice Day parade in Fullerton, the float of the Orange County Health camp was credited today with having carried a message of paramount importance to every resident of this section.

The slogan of the institution, "Make Orange county the healthiest as well as the wealthiest," was borne on either side of the car, which was draped with the American flag. Living evidence of the anti-tuberculosis work carried on at the camp was seen in the 16 kiddies who rode on the float. These youngsters spent part of the summer in the Santiago canyon where they built up reserve strength which is enabling them to ward off the possibility of contracting tuberculosis.

Blue and gold, the camp colors, were featured in the display, which was designed by James Duggan, Santa Ana artist. Mrs. Amelia Meagher, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, drove the car.

Acid Scalp

How many carefully coiffured heads can stand the test of eyes only inches away, and reveal not a speck of dandruff? How many women can warm to the dance, and know their hair will have no taint for the partner who holds them close?

No one can be sure who has acid scalp.

If you even suspect this acid condition of the scalp, it is time for Danderine. This scientific preparation will neutralize any acidity, and dissolve all dandruff if there is any. And it always gives the hair itself a lovely softness and sheen. It will wave better, hold a wave longer, and behave better all the time if you just occasionally apply a few drops of Danderine. Try it! Every druggist has this perfect conditioner of the scalp and hair, and a thirty-five cent bottle lasts for weeks.

PRISONERS WHO HAVE FAMILIES GET PROBATION

Superior Judge James L. Allen declared today that whenever jail sentences for petty criminals mean that their families will be without support, he will not sentence these men the county bastile unless aid is given to their wives and children by the county.

Judge Allen pointed out that it was unjust to send to jail a man who has failed to provide for his family and then take away from him the chance of supporting his children by refusing to pay him wages for his work on county road projects. He declared that there have been several cases in which aid has not been provided for needy families of men who have been sent to jail on this charge.

He stated that this is the only county in the state in which prisoners are not paid for their work.

Instead of prison terms Judge Allen will grant probation in such cases, he stated. Not only in cases wherein the charge is non-support, but in all other minor ones as well, this policy will prevail in his court.

Formerly only families of prisoners who were in jail on the charge of failure to provide could legally be supported by the county. An amendment passed by the last legislature allows the county to aid others also.

Unless the supervisors appropriate a sum for this purpose, it would be impossible to take advantage of the new ruling. The question was before the board at the last meeting and, although no action was taken, the subject was referred to District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., for investigation.

DON CAGERS IN FIRST WORKOUT OF NEW SEASON

Prospects Bright as Squad Reports to Coach Scott; Many Veterans on Hand

Basketball, monarch of all winter sports here, answered an early reveille today when more than a dozen aspirants reported to Coach Walter Scott in the first Santa Ana junior college practice of the 1927-8 season.

In "jumping the gun" on the rest of the field by close to a month, Coach Scott hopes to get his squad in good playing condition before the Christmas holidays and have them in midseason form when they swing into action in their conference season January 14.

Practice will be conducted three times a week until December 1 when daily drill will be instituted and followed until college classes close for the holidays. Today's workout was scheduled to begin at 4:30 o'clock in Andrews gymnasium.

Six members of the strong 1926 squad which finished well up in the conference race were expected to report to Scott this afternoon, the number including Faris Edgar and Ed Settle, forwards; Bill Allee and Melvin Harter, centers, and Spencer Stewart and "Red" Edwards, guard.

At a recent conference of the junior college coaches arrangements were made in regard to future athletic contests of the school term.

For basketball, baseball, track, and tennis, the conference of ten schools will be divided into the Coast and Valley sections. Schools in the Coast section are: Compton, Fullerton, Long Beach, Pasadena, and Santa Ana; those in the Valley section are: Citrus Union, Chaffey, Pomona, Riverside, and San Bernardino.

In basketball and baseball the schools of each section will play off their league games and the two high schools of each section will play off for the conference championship. In track dual meets will be held between the team of each section, and the winning team in each meet to decide the title. A conference meet of all schools will also be held.

By JIMMY POWERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Well, if we haven't got "Baby Face" back in our midst again! And it looks like the chubby-faced little rascal is going to stay quite a spell. He has signed for three big appearances this coming winter.

This story is about Mr. James McLarnin, who is nicknamed "Baby Face" and who, among other things, is a lightweight boxer, and quite a good one too, if a sensational and totally unexpected knockout over Mr. Kaplan-the-Keed means anything.

Eight fans' tongues are buzzing with the speculation and mull over his chances with Sid Terrell, Billy Wallace and Sammy Mandell, the lineup made for him this coming indoor season. His first appearance is scheduled for Detroit November 23 against Billy Wallace.

He's "Foreign Menace"

We've discovered he's a "foreign menace." Everyone figured McLarnin a Californian. He is nothing of the sort, he'll remind you earnestly. He is an Irishman and he was born in the "ould country" and came across the seas when he was a "wee bit of a spaldeen." He was born Dec. 17, 1905. "He's one sweet kid," says Benny Leonard, the undefeated lightweight champion of the world. "He has put plenty of kick into my favorite fighting division."

"I remember boxing with him in an exhibition out on the coast. He was clever and fast then but was growing too quickly and I understand that sapped his vitality. That explains why he quit the bantam ranks and is now blossoming out as a full-fledged lightweight. He may go on and be a heavy yet—and a good one, too. He is a bit slow of foot but packs

JULIA LATHROP ELEVEN WHIPS BEACH 'BEE'S'

Julia C. Lathrop junior high school's football team broke into the win column again yesterday afternoon when it won a game from the Huntington Beach high school class B team by the impressive score of 25 to 0.

The Lathrop boys looked far better yesterday than they did early in the season when they lost a hard fought game to this same club 6 to 0. The backfield also showed a marked improvement in their defense against a forward passing attack.

The South Main streeters have had their schedule considerably interrupted during the past weeks and their offense has suffered as a result. However, the team will have plenty of work ahead of it during the next two weeks, as it travels to Tustin Thursday and is scheduled to go to San Diego to play the strong Memorial junior high school eleven of that city in a curtain-raiser to the Santa Ana Diego high school game on November 26.

COACH BILL COOK WORKS TO PERFECT SANTA ANA OFFENSE FOR COMPTON TIFF SATURDAY

Mysterious activities were being carried on today by Coach Bill Cook, mentor of the Santa Ana junior college football team, in preparation for his team's clash next Saturday with the undefeated Compton team, now virtually assured of the championship of the Southern California junior college league.

Santa Ana may topple over the pedestal on which Compton is standing if the tactics which Coach Cook is so secretly planning, strengthen the Don offense.

The weakness of their offense cost the Dons their game with the San Bernardino Indians last Saturday. This week when the team goes to Compton for the last game of the season it will play away home, the attack of the eleven will be materially improved.

Coach Cook probably will use his fleetest halfbacks, Gerald ("Pete") Twiss, Maurice Guyer and Bill Luck in the game.

NO INVITATION IS ISSUED FOR JAN. 1 TEAMS

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 15.—The annual "guessing fever" regarding the Tournament of Roses football classic here January 2, gripped Southern California again today, but Tournament officials refused to shed any light on the situation.

"No invitation has been issued and none will be for some time," was the statement made today at the Tournament of Roses headquarters.

"It's anyone's privilege to hazard a guess as to the teams which will face each other for the big game, but the committee which does the final picking wants to wait until the last chance of an upset is passed before naming favorites from south, east, north or west," is the official attitude.

Sports writers today converged on Washington and Jefferson and Pittsburgh, headed by the stellar runner Captain "Gib" Welch as the eastern possibilities, while expressing the belief that the Southern California Trojans would receive the call from the western field.

Tournament officials pointed out that Pittsburgh must face Penn State on Thanksgiving, while W. and J. ends a successful season the same day against West Virginia. Pitt and the Presidents end 0 to 0, each winning all other games to date.

The Trojans must still hurdle tricky Washington State, Notre Dame and the powerful Washington Huskies.

Illinois and Minnesota are eliminated by Big Ten rulings. Georgia university with the Yale scalp and still undefeated in the south still beat Georgia Tech and Alabama. It is known that the Tournament committee would like to find a choice from another section than the south this year as Alabama appeared in the Rose bowl two straight years.

Cougars Off For Game With Troy

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—A purse of $5000 has been posted here by Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, for a title match here with Joe Stecher, champion. A similar offer in Chicago has been withdrawn.

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 15.—Headed by Coach "Babe" Hollingsbury, the Washington State Cougars left today for Los Angeles where they will play the University of Southern California Saturday. It will be the last appearance of "Butch" Meeker, star of the Polytechnic and if he gets away—it is going to be too bad.

Yale beat the Army 10-6. Yale's point after touchdown and the Army's failure, really decided the game, the three points scored by the field goal were unnecessary. In Big Ten circles, Purdue and Northwestern suffered defeats by a one-point margin. Chicago won from the former, Illinois from the latter, by 7-6 scores.

Brown lost its fourth straight to Lebanon Valley, 13-12, the biggest upset of the year, due to missing both points after touchdown.

Other games in which the value of the kick figured prominently were Missouri's 7-6 win over Nebraska, Kansas' victory over Drake by the same score, and triumph of Louisiana State over the Mississippi Aggies, 9-7.

"HENRY FORD OF FOOTBALL"

That's what they call Howard Jones, coach at the University of Southern California, who has devised a peculiar but effective system of his own, each man being drilled to become a specialist along some certain line.

COACH HOWARD JONES
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

University of Southern California Coach Drills Every Member of Squad to Be Specialist Along Some Particular Gridiron Line

"The Henry Ford of Football!" Once One guard is a crasher who can take "socks" and who swings into a guard position at times. The other is always tricky, fast and elusive, a man who can catch passes and can slip through an opponent's line. One end is usually big while the other is the pass-receiving expert. The center plays a roving game.

Young Mr. Mohler is the star of the champion Alhambra baseball team last season. Competent critics say he is ripe right now for professional company and of course old "Kid" is grooming him for a shot in pro baseball.

Has Grid Skill Too

It is football that is interesting local sport page readers now, however, and in this sport, as well as baseball, Mohler has more than one of the few, if not the only southpaw who ever played in the infidels in organized baseball. "Kid" Mohler managed and played second base for San Francisco for many years during the "good old days" of the Coast league and his son has inherited much of his athletic ability and courage. He is a real chip off the old block.

Young Mohler was the star of the champion Alhambra baseball team last season. Competent critics say he is ripe right now for professional company and of course old "Kid" is grooming him for a shot in pro baseball.

Two Men Carry Ball

The most pronounced specialization under Jones' unique system is found in the backfield. Here only two men carry the ball, the others doing nothing except interference work.

Duties of Guards Different

The Trojan right guard and left guard have vastly different duties under Jones. One man cannot alternate from one position to the other. It is the same with the tackles and the ends.

For instance, one of Jones' guards must be a powerful man, a "stone-wall" type who stands the brunt of both offense and defense. The other must be fast so he can slip out to lead interference work.

Insults of the Past Weeks

George Hobbs is the Moor coach. He was boss of the Anaheim eleven last season and enjoyed considerable success, his club tying for the Orange county league pennant only to lose out in a play-off. Hobbs has a reputation of producing scrappy, smart teams and he has "pointed" his boys for the Santa Ana racket, hoping to show up his one-time Santa Ana rivals.

So Poly must work hard this week and get in the right mental and physical condition if it would win Saturday.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

The other day, I saw a photograph of Herb Pennock in overalls milking a cow. Somehow, I suspect that the photograph was no truer to life than those depicting Cal Coolidge in chaps and a ten-gallon hat.

For one thing, Herb owns the farm upon which the picture was taken, and undoubtedly has a hired man around for just such chores.

But what gave me the real tip-off was this: the famous Yankee southpaw was milking that cow RIGHT-HANDED!

Pennock looked mighty comfortable and happy, down on the farm, and I fell to wondering how many more seasons will find him baseball's greatest left-handed pitcher.

I won't tell you old he is, but I will remind you that Herb pitched part of a world series game for the Athletics against the Boston Braves in 1914. He wasn't in that game long enough to win or lose it—which was fortunate for him, since the Braves were on the warpath in that memorable series.

Pennock has a record of five victories and no defeats in world series contests. In this respect, he is tied with old Jack Coombs, former star of the Mackmen and now a baseball coach at Princeton university.

Coombs won three games for the Athletics over the Chicago Cubs in 1910, beat the Giants in one game the following year and pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a single victory over the Boston Red Sox in the series of 1916.

Pennock has taken part in eight world series games, winning five, losing none and playing a relief role in three.

Pitching for the Yankees, Herb beat the Giants twice in 1923 in the last series in which both New York teams took part. Three years later, he twice defeated the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pennock's fifth world series victory was achieved against the Pittsburgh Pirates in Yankee Stadium a month ago. No one who saw it will ever forget the amazing performance of the slim, frail southpaw, who turned back the National league champions inning after inning without a man reaching first.

For seven innings, Herb shut the Pirates out, one-two-three. Then, when the game was won, he eased up a bit, and allowed three hits and a run. It was one of the best pitched world series games on record, and was all the more remarkable because Pennock had been laid low by a batted ball during Yankee practice in Pittsburgh three days earlier.

There is one more world series pitching record to which Pennock may aspire, and the chances are that he will equal or better it before he finally quits baseball and settles down on the farm.

Chief Bender of the Athletics, won six world series games. The Indian shut out the Giants in the only game the Mackmen won in 1905. Bender won a game in 1910 from the Cubs, two in 1911 from the Giants again, and again in 1913 he twice defeated McGraw's National League champions.

But the Chief was beaten in three of his series starts, twice by the Giants and once by the Cubs, so if Herb adds another victory to his string next year he will be without a peer as a world's championship pitcher.

How do I know he will be in the series next year? Isn't he a member of the New York Yankees?

RICKARD'S NEW ELIMINATION TOURNEY PRODUCES TWO REAL THREATS FOR DUNDEE TITLE

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Out of Tex Rickard's carnival of lightweights and welterweights at Madison Square Garden last night there came two contenders for Joe Dundee's title and a black menace for Sammy Mandell's crown.

Clyde Hull, a rugged fighter from Dallas, Texas, and Hilario Martinez, a speedy Spaniard, came through their bouts in flying fashion and promise to give Dundee, the welterweight champion, more annoyance than all the courts of California.

Bruce Flowers, a little black boy from Yonkers, N. Y., established himself as a prominent contender for the lightweight championship by a great victory over Sammy Vogel, a tough lad from Harlem.

Joe Glick of Brooklyn defeated Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, former junior lightweight titleholder, but his victory was unimpressive. Glick earned a title bout with Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, but on his showing against Bernstein, he is not apt to upset Morgan.

Hull scored a sensational one-round victory over Johnny Indrisano of Boston and has a serious threat to Joe Dundee's title.

Hull first attracted attention by beating Pete Latzo when the title will not be involved, as Myers cannot make 135 pounds.

Since he acquired the title here, July 4, 1926, Mandell has been fighting "unknowns" while contenders for his title were knocking each off in elimination bouts.

Myers is a rugged puncher and tonight's bout should provide a good test of Mandell's ability.

SPUG MYERS GETS SHOT AT MANDELL TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—For the first time since he won the lightweight championship from Rocky Kansas, Sammy Mandell tonight will meet a better than average opponent in Spug Myers.

The title will not be involved, as Myers cannot make 135 pounds.

McLarmin, who stands 5 feet 6 inches, started his career four years ago. He had the usual amateur introduction and went well, shining as a "powder-puff" type.

"Baby Face" was the monicker pinned on the kid at that time.

He is unusually young looking and seems to be the same Celtic type as Tunney that matures slowly.

The high spot of his opening professional year is a decision over Fidel LaBarba and a draw with the same gentleman. He also beat Frankie Sands, Joe Dillon, Abe Gordon, Young Nationalist and Sammy Lee.

Beat Fidel LaBarba

The next season he knocked out Jackie Fields in two rounds, beat Fidel LaBarba again in ten, Young Farrell, Teddy Silva and Pancho Villa and Bud Taylor—not a bad year at that.

Then he began to grow. His ring labors became too strenuous. Taylor beat him twice, Johnny Farr and Doc Snell coppered the duke over his tousled pompadour and he faded out of the picture.

He's back now. Strong as a young bull. The way he flattened Mr. Kaplan-the-Keed was a picture.

Messrs. Terrell, Wallace and Mandell are ahead of him. They have not been setting the world afire of late. Maybe Benny Leonard's hunch is right. Maybe he will be the next champion. Maybe.

the quarterback. But the fullback's charges are nearly always for short distances unless he gets the benefit of a good break, while the quarterback does more ground covering in his journeys.

Has Names for Backs

The halfbacks are called "outside" and "inside" halves. The former is the right half. He is at the "long side" of the unbalanced line and with the guard and fullback does most of the way-paving for the quarterback who carries the ball. The inside half is at the left or short side of the line. He must be rugged for to him come more hard knocks than to any other member of the backfield. He is protection and he must "get" the man who seeps through the line when the play forms.

That, in brief, is Jones' system which has been evolved from 18 years of mentorship at Yale, Syracuse, Ohio State and Trinity college before the Trojan coach came to Southern California.

"There are many fault-finders to my system, but there are answers for all criticism," says Howard Jones.

"Why not let the four backs carry the ball?" some ask.

Makes Specialists of Players

"Simply because I have found it more efficient to make specialists of my men. Any ball-carrier who leads interference is subconsciously prone to save himself. Interference leaders should not have to worry about carrying the ball."

"Many ask me why I don't have a halfback call signals instead of the quarterback. Interference leading is the most difficult task in football. The man doing this duty is forbidden by rules to use his hands or arms in taking out a huge lineman who comes toward him permitted by all rules to use his hands. It takes a crash to dispose of the opponent and an interference runner has enough to think about without pondering over what play to use next."

"The ball carrier's job is simple compared to that of the interference leader's duty."

Quarter Logical Signal Caller

"The quarterback is the logical man to call signals. Since he carries the ball he is behind his entire team. He knows what plays are working. He alone can tell which men are failing in their duties and which opponents are tackling him. He can see what opponents are out of position."

"This is the age of specialization and the interference leader suited to that work has no business trying to carry the ball."

"Some say this gives lee-way for no deception. If the quarterback or fullback is a triple-threat man you have all the deception needed. Also, if every man is an expert at his duty on a certain play and completes his task, I'd be willing to let any team know just where we are going. The play would work because of efficiency. After all, specialization does not make for individual stars, but when co-ordinated properly, forms the most complete teamwork."

"I have had some howl to me. Why don't you give that poor quarterback a rest from carrying the ball?" My answer is "Why not give the poor fellow leading interference and taking the ball a rest?"

The title will not be involved, as Myers cannot make 135 pounds.

LIKELY MANAGER

FRANK O'CURKE, who played third base for the St. Louis Browns last season, is unquestionably big league managerial timber. Several clubs are known to be considering him as a pilot. "There never was a smarter infielder than O'Curke," says Ty Cobb, who brought him back to the Tigers when he was managing that club. "If he could hit better, he would be in the headlines almost daily."

WATER APPLICATION HEARING NEAR END

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Hearing on applications of nine municipalities and water companies for a share of the surplus water of the main San Gabriel river was expected to be concluded before the state division of water rights here today.

The matter was taken up early in August, but continued until yesterday. Pasadena representatives were heard yesterday but the hearing was not finished. Among those to testify today are Monrovia officials, who will probably merely verify facts already presented.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Following the migratory birds, John D. Rockefeller today began his annual pilgrimage to the south to escape the rigor of a New York winter.

The oil millionaire, entering his 87th winter, left his estate here by auto for his Lakewood, N. J., residence. After a short stay there he will go to his Florida home by train.

GIRL ARRESTED ON RUM CHARGE KILLS HERSELF

EL CENTRO, Nov. 15.—Members of the California state highway commission returned here at noon today following a highway inspection in eastern Imperial county and a trip to Yuma, Ariz. Following luncheon they left for San Diego.

At a meeting last night members of the commission promised to give early attention to the proposed completion of pavement on the Yuma-San Diego route.

The party includes B. B. Meek, director of public works; J. P. Baumgartner, A. B. Smith, S. V. Cortelyou, R. M. Mitchell, state engineer, and E. Forrest Mitchell, secretary of the commission.

SEARGEANT TILE COMPANY IS SOLD

A. C. Townsend and S. E. Eller announced today the purchase of the Seargent Tile and Mantel company at 208 West First street from Frank Seargent. The new owners took possession yesterday.

The name of the concern has been changed to the Orange County Tile and Mantel company, and will continue to turn out the same class of work which it produced under the management of its former owner.

The business employs six men who are engaged in setting tile for mantels, fireplaces and bathrooms. Townsend is a former employee of Seargent's, while Ellers has been in the restaurant business here.

house, died in a hospital with a fractured skull sustained while doing rescue work.

An official of the clay pot company expressed belief that the known death list might mount rapidly during the day because more than 100 men were in the plant at the time of the explosion.

The plant was demolished and the basement was still filled with water today.

Rescue workers during the night reported seeing the bodies of 23 men in the water under the ruins of the plant.

Debris of twisted steel beams and timbers hindered the recovery of the bodies.

10 To 40 Missing

The list of missing ranged in estimate from 10 to 40.

An accurate check of the injured was impossible.

Hundreds who received minor injuries were given treatment at hospitals and discharged. Others received first aid treatment from private doctors and at improvised aid stations.

More than 100 remained in hospitals today. A score of these were reported critically injured.

Water Concessions Dead

First Chief Richard Smith said the pit of water in the clay pot factory might conceal anywhere from 30 to 100 dead. That was typical of the uncertainty of the disaster and lent inspiration for the desperate drive to reach the bottom of the piled debris.

The repair crew of the Ritter Conley company, which was welding the giant superstructure when the tank which it surrounded exploded, probably was wiped out.

Many of the bodies may never be found, it was indicated by ghastly remnants of men which were found in the twisted steel.

List of Identified Dead

The following is a revised list of identified dead:

C. M. Michaels, superintendent of plant, Pittsburgh.

Joe Harris, 27, Negro, Pittsburgh.

John W. Miller, 68, Pittsburgh.

P. W. Walters, 41, Sarver, Pa.

A. M. Beaver, 31, Leetsdale, Pa.

CANNIBALS IN U. S.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 15.—Anthropologists examining the fossilized remains of a civilization believed to be about 4,000,000 years old believe that men who lived on this continent at that time were cannibals. On Harold Cook's fossil bed ranch in western Nebraska have been found macerated human bones, indicating that many an unlucky cave-man furnished the piece de resistance of feasts.

SLASH IN CANNED GOODS RAIL RATES ORDERED CANCELLED

In denying the reduction, the commission said:

"Consideration of the record leads to the belief that at the present rate of $1.05 the transcontinental carriers are laboring under a disadvantage in competing with the intercoastal lines for the traffic in Pacific coast canned goods, but it indicates also that the proposed rate is lower than necessary to meet the competition in a reasonable degree."

"I don't know how I got out alive," Ringbaumer said.

"It was a miracle. I was standing against the largest of the tanks when the other one let go."

I don't know where it came from, but it threw me against the tank so that I hit my head again. Then I realized I was being pushed by the water around to the other side of the big tank."

These related the discovery that Burns operatives were shadowing the jurors and als that one juror, Edward J. Kidwell, allegedly had talked about the trial and his expectations of receiving an automobile "as long as this block."

The inference from the investigation was that contempt proceedings would be brought against the Burns men and perhaps also against Kidwell and others if facts warranted.

Grand Jury Ends Taking of Testimony

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The grand jury investigating the Fall-Sinclair oil trial jury tampering charges ended its sessions today as far as presentation of witnesses is concerned. Government attorneys said a few records only would be presented to the grand jury tomorrow.

William J. Burns, famous detective, appeared this afternoon before the grand jury. He was in the jury room 10 minutes.

His son, W. Sherman Burns, active head of the Burns agency, which provided the jury shadowers, followed him before the grand jury.

Charles G. Ruddy, who directed Burns agents in shadowing the oil trial jurors, testified before the grand jury for an hour and a half while W. J. Burns and his sons, W. Sherman and Raymond Burns, waited in the corridors with their wives.

It was horrible. I don't know how I got out alive. Those poor fellows up there on that big tank with the torches must have been blown to atoms."

MANILA, Nov. 15.—Two Manila city councilors are sponsoring a movement to revive an ordinance allowing establishment of cockpits in Manila.

Fighting roosters share with politics, premier honors as matters of public interest in the Manila area. Every Sunday the cockpits of villages about Manila attract thousands of owners and spectators. The councilors say Manila is losing thousands of pesos in license fees which it might as well gather in with mingled pleasure and profit.

But the event that probably led Miss Elder to term the president a "darling" and Lindbergh a "peach" took place last night at the auditorium, where, in the presence of 6,000 cheering Lindbergh "fans," Mr. Coolidge presented the National Geographic society's Hubbard medal to Lindbergh.

The president, speaking almost privately, declared Lindbergh had opened up such aviation activity that he hesitated to predict the air strides that would follow within the next year.

Lindbergh did this, not by his flight alone, but by his record-breaking lecture tour and his character, which "stood the acid test of hero worshiping adulation," Mr. Coolidge said.

Lindbergh spoke brief thanks into a radio microphone.

Today the flyers were disbanding, except some who stayed for a National Aeronautic association luncheon. Lindbergh planned to fly back to New York. Miss Elder caught a night train for New York, glad, she said, to escape Flo Ziegfeld's stage contract, offered her here, and eager to consider making a lecture tour—as Lindbergh did.

COMPLAINTS AT BEACH SCHOOL INVESTIGATED

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 15.—As a result of five complaints made to the office of the county superintendent of schools, that the lower grades were given too heavy school work and too severe punishment for inability to do the work, Superintendent Mitchell personally visited the school at Newport Beach yesterday and interviewed students as well as investigated the complaints.

The most recent complaint made to the superintendent was by parents of a child who was sent to a cloak room last Thursday following the noon day convening hour for scribbling on a piece of paper. The child was said to have been forgotten by the teacher, who went home and left the child in the cloak room. When the child did not come on the regular bus, the mother went to the school house and found the child had been standing in the cloak room the entire time and the teacher had left the building. The child was badly frightened, believing that she would be locked up in the school house.

She had chewed her finger nails until they were bleeding. Because of the tender years of the child and the minor nature of the offense, much indignation was expressed over the occurrence.

Another child of the same age was whipped for glancing over the shoulder of another to see what page the others were reading from, after failing to hear the page called, it is said.

What action will be taken as a result of the investigation by Superintendent Mitchell is not known. Complaint was made to the county superintendent, it is said, because previous complaints made to the local board were said to have been ignored because of asserted political connections of parties involved.

Church Asks Thief For Fruit Jars

LA HABRA, Nov. 15.—The thief who made away with 12 jars of canned peaches from the pantry of the First Baptist church is welcome to the fruit but the church would like to have the jars returned.

Members of the committee packing the peaches declared today that the church wants to pack some more fruit and desires to have the jars returned.

The fruit disappeared some time Sunday night, it is believed.

GARDEN GROVE EASTERN STAR GROUP ELECTS

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 15.—The Garden Grove Eastern Star chapter, newest O. E. S. organization in the county, has elected the following officers for the year: Worship matron, Mrs. Anna Larson; worthy patron, Ben R. Day; associate matron, Mrs. Bessie Pearson; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Doig; treasurer, Mrs. May Pearson; conductress, Mrs. May L. Enry; associate conductress, Mrs. Luella Franks.

The deputy grand matron, Mrs. Bessie Pyle visited the chapter recently. This was her first visit outside of her own chapter since she was made deputy grand matron.

FORMER LA HABRA PASTOR BUYS HOME

LA HABRA, Nov. 15.—The Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Sutton, of San Jacinto, with the latter's aunt, who is making her home with them, have arrived in La Habra to make their home. They have traded their ranch there. They traded with Mr. Sanderson for a house and lot on Sunrise avenue. The Suttons are well known in La Habra, having resided here 12 years ago, at which time the Rev. Mr. Sutton was pastor of the Methodist church and is in the real estate business at the present time.

NEW GROVE FIRE SIREN CONNECTED

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 15.—The regular monthly meeting of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce was held at Garden Grove Inn yesterday, with the president, C. C. Arrowsmith, presiding.

C. L. Cramer reported for the fire committee. He stated that the siren had been installed and connected with the telephone exchange and that 15 fire hydrants had been installed to date.

The following were appointed to work with other organizations on civic questions: W. M. Morrill, chairman; L. W. Schaner and E. M. Dosier.

C. S. Holt and J. G. Allen, committee on the Y. M. C. A. building, were recommended to continue on committee and make further investigation in regard to having the Y. M. C. A. transferred from the chamber of commerce to the American Legion post. It was decided to have a resolution prepared and in shape for the chamber to act on at the next meeting.

The Rev. Elmer Grant Keith, an evangelist, made a short talk in regard to the meetings being held at the local Methodist Episcopal church.

This sentiment is growing rapidly since the feeling has been very generally aired in Newport Beach that a mistake has been made in jetty management and that results worth while have not been received from the money expended.

Wallace Hits Denials

Lew Wallace, Newport Beach banker, in the presence of Harry Welch and a Register reporter, made the statement that he did not see why the attitude of denial of any mistakes should be continued. He stated that the only way it was possible to attempt to correct such a mistake was to cease denying that there had been one and attempt to correct it.

"Some day," he said, "I am going out there and go over the situation thoroughly with the engineer who is a very close personal friend of mine and see if we can not arrive at some solution of his problem. Personally, I am in favor of the groins run out from the shore at this end of the jetty to protect the beach. This has been done with good results in other places. Why don't some of these fellows admit that mistakes have been made and get at the bottom of the question instead of wasting energy defending past action?"

JETTY TRACKS AT BEACH ARE BEING REMOVED

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 15.—Tracks that were used for hauling rock to the jetty have been taken up as far as F street and leveling work is being done by a steam shovel on the jetty. Although the work is done and the construction company is preparing to leave the jetty and move its equipment, no public or private celebration of the completion of the work will be undertaken as had been previously expected.

No Plan Advanced

Those in charge of the work have advanced no plan of action to protect the beach from the winter storms, it is asserted. The fact that the quiet weather now experienced is resulting in a slow but steady washing of an elbow back of the rock dumped to protect the beach, leads to a feeling of apprehension as to what will happen when the heavy ground swells and giant breakers of the winter months appear.

Yachtmen and pilots of boats using the bay declare that as far as safety of the entrance is concerned, no improvement has been made in navigating conditions beyond the fact that the scouring action keeps the bay more free from sand and cuts a better channel than formerly.

Extension Hled Need

They state that an extension of the jetty farther into the ocean is the only method of making the entrance entirely safe to navigation. While much white water was experienced at the old break in the jetty, this was not considered the dangerous point of the channel by those using the bay.

The point where even the experienced pilot holds his breath and nervously grips his wheel is just opposite the end of the jetty, where the oblique action of the waves tends to carry the boats toward a pile of huge rocks that have washed away from the old jetty and are a menace to navigation when the breakers are running strong. These rocks are not visible only at the low ebb of a huge backward sucking undertow.

Pilots in Close Calls

Recently, as experienced boatmen as the pilots of the Daisy and the Juanita had close calls of striking these submerged rocks when heavy ground swells were running and were saved only by throwing their engines in reverse and holding their boats back until the crest of a wave passed and they were able to again pull into the channel. During the recent run of tuna, Gene Elliott was a passenger on the Juanita and after the pilot threw the engine into reverse and held it back, the ugly rocks loomed only a few inches from the hull. After they had navigated the channel the pilot is said to have asked Elliott if he realized how narrowly they avoided an accident and he replied that he certainly did.

Such experiences are quite common when the heavy ground swells are running, even with the experienced pilots, it is said.

Annexation Advocated

There is much talk of late of Newport Beach annexing to Santa Ana and that city completing the work of making the entrance to the bay safe for navigation. J. P. Greeley, prominent business man and head of the Orange County Coast association, as well as president of the Associated Chambers of Orange county, expressed the view of many local Newport Beach men when he said: "I think this is the only solution of the jetty problem and I believe eventually many will see that we have much to gain by such a move. The task is too great for the small community to put over alone."

This sentiment is growing rapidly since the feeling has been very generally aired in Newport Beach that a mistake has been made in jetty management and that results worth while have not been received from the money expended.

H. B. TIDELANDS CASE IS BEFORE DISTRICT COURT; WEBB ATTACKS STATE LAW

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 15.—Attorney General Webb, arguing before the district court of appeals yesterday in Sacramento, asserted that the state legislature had no right to pass a law allowing the leasing of state tidelands for oil and gas prospecting.

The attorney general represented W. S. Kingsbury, state surveyor general, in the case of Thomas A. Joyner, of Los Angeles, who is seeking a writ of mandamus to compel Kingsbury to permit him to drill for oil and gas on tidelands at Huntington Beach.

Webb, in replying to the contention of Joyner's attorney that the tidelands sought are inside the city limits, declared that the boundaries of a city end with the line of high tide and cannot legally extend out into the ocean.

The attorney general said that if the beach was honeycombed with oil derricks that navigation and even fishing would be jeopardized.

"Inasmuch as your board has thought it wise to lease the tidelands of the city, giving as your reason for so doing, the city's need for funds;

"And inasmuch as this decision on your part takes from the people of the city a potential park for the period of 25 years;

"The Women's Civic League asks that the income from this lease, supplemented by whatever other monies may be needed, be set aside for the sole purpose of beautifying and making useable for the public at large, the present anaemic park site, and that work be commenced at once in accord with the plans submitted to and accepted by the board of trustees, as a gift from the Women's Civic League in 1922.

"Because some of the newer members of your board may not be familiar with the matter, the league wishes to remind you that the Women's Civic League of Newport Beach is without a club house today, because the original building fund was given to the board of trustees of our city in the belief that the board would keep it intact.

In police court, Judge Chris Pam sentenced C. E. Garrison, of the Oil Well Flowing company, now defunct. This was a test case where F. W. Mauldin and Frank Stump, the latter of whom was discharged recently for want of evidence but was re-arrested on request from Taft.

The judge sentenced Garrison to pay a $500 fine and serve 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended for 30 days to give the defendant the opportunity to pay his obligations. Many other cases of a similar nature hinge upon this test case.

The Women's Civic League felt the city needed a park more than we needed a clubhouse. We now ask your board to keep faith with us and with the people by giving them the park in a condition suitable for park purposes.

"In five years' time, the chance of any decent sub-soil has been ruined by the dumping of sand and broken concrete. Instead of any intelligent attempt to lay the foundation for beauty, an unsightly public toilet has been stuck up in the center of the lot.

"Whether this was an act of ignorance and indifference or a flaunting challenge to those who hoped to see some evidence of a civic consciousness that might conceive of beauty as a fundamental principle upon which to build, this remains for the men who constituted that board and those who perpetuated their work to answer.

They stated that they were willing to wait even two years for the replacing of their land if they could be assured that such action would be taken, but that if they let the matter go by now without action and present board went out of office, they would have no recourse.

The question was put to City Attorney Franklin West as to whether the present board could bind the incoming board of councilmen to any promised action.

Beauty Chats

BY EDNA KENT FORBES

In these days of simplicity in lines, with an elimination of all the embellishment possible, there must be much more care given to perfecting details than when we could cover up mistakes by adding a bit more trimming. A simple frock now must be as near perfect as possible, both in its cut and tailoring. The same idea applies to the hair, for a frowsy head with flying locks, will not be in keeping with our simpler method of dressing. One must be trim from head to foot now to be in fashion, and the hair requires particular attention in completing this tailory effect.

Healthy hair has a lustre and will require very little grooming to bring out the glossy sheen that is natural to it, but when the hair lacks this lustre, there is no better way to bring it about than vigorous brushing. One hesitates to advise the use of a hair brush unless there is also the reminder that the brush must be kept scrupulously clean. In the very act of glossing the hair, the bristles of the brush have picked up all the dead particles of skin from the scalp and taken much soil from the hair. It would be better if the brush were beaten out, or even washed, every time after it is used.

Mrs. H. B.—Use the hair tonic two or three times a week, and always massage the scalp thoroughly at the time. After you have rubbed the lard into your skin, remove all trace of it on the surface so there will be no oil to attract soil into the pores. Animal fats that are not too heavy may be used if there is no tendency to grow hair, but the precaution against this, is to keep from attracting the soil into the pores. Consult the doctor about your legs swelling.

Mrs. J. A.—No one should make a practice of taking even so mild a cathartic as you describe. You can keep the system clean and working normally if you plan the diet so it is balanced. Some members of your family may need more acid fruit than the others for a time until they break up the habit of dependence upon these salts. You will get all the needed information about dieting from the "Chats" if you follow them regularly.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The barrel on which Clowny stood, it seemed, was treating him real good. It rolled along real slowly and he stayed upon his feet. The other Tinies ran along, all set if something should go wrong, to save him from a tumble which they knew would not be sweet.

Then, suddenly, wee Clowny cried, "Oh, goodness me, I fear this ride will land me in some trouble. I am coming to a hill. But, gee, I hate to jump off now. Perhaps I'll keep my feet somehow. But, if I don't, please grab me, 'cause I'll likely take a spill."

Then to the hill they shortly came. It really seemed an awful shame for surely Clowny couldn't stay upon the barrel top. The barrel quickly picked up speed and all the Tinymites agreed that Clowny's ride was near an end, and he was sure to flop.

Although the whole bunch ran real fast, the little barrel shot right past. Then, as it hit a little bump, wee Clowny flew in air. He turned a somersault with ease, and landed on his hands and knees and, as the others reached him he exclaimed, "I guess I'm there!"

"Look what upset you," Carpy cried. A pumpkin then, the whole bunch spied. The barrel just had hit it. That's what made wee Clowny fall. They watched their barrel jump and hop and then they saw it slowly stop, and they were much relieved to see it wasn't smashed at all.

Said Carpy, "Now for quite a treat. This pumpkin's mighty good to eat." And then he found a pointed stick and cut big pieces out. The whole bunch gaily gathered 'round. They liked the food that they had found. "This satisfies my appetite," they soon heard Scouty shout.

(Another surprise comes out of the barrel in the next story.)

Greatest Good Is Caused By Home

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The club president had her question ready. "What do you consider the greatest symbol of respectability?" she asked.

"Clothes!" said one woman promptly. Instantly she colored and retired in blushing confusion as the other laughed. And yet wasn't her spontaneous reply the most natural thing in the world!

"Education!" said another woman rising and expanding to her subject.

"Religion" followed, and "citizenship," "work," "property-ownership," "intelligence," "good homes," "a profession," all came in quick sequence.

The time was nearly up. A little brown-eyed lady who had come in late, and had been trying surreptitiously to pull her stockings straight, now shot up and without any parliamentary introduction said simply, "The Home," and sat down.

"I said 'good homes,'" the lady two say-so's ahead reminded her.

"I don't mean good homes," replied the brown-eyed one up on her toes in a minute. "Not as you do. I don't mean a thing about architecture and shrubbery. I mean Dad and Mother and the baby. Or, like my own home before I was married, Dad and Mother and ten babies. So far I've had three myself."

"I'm tired reading of the independence of women. I'm tired of everything on earth being exploited to high heaven but doing the things a woman was born for."

"If home isn't the greatest symbol of respectability on earth, then what is?" She sat down breathlessly.

The ladies looked at one another and then did an unprecedented thing in that club. They clapped.

BLUE CHINS

Do all healthy men have blue chins? So said Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the great actress, according to George Arliss' autobiography, "Up the Years From Bloomsbury." He tells of Mrs. Campbell's request that all the men in the company make up with blue chins instead of pink ones which made them look like girls. But the blue chins stayed only one night. The manager told the leading lady that she seemed surrounded by burglars and other crooks.

HouseholdNinth Birthday Offers
Incentive for Gay
Celebration

With his ninth birthday falling on Sunday, November 13, Master Stanley Slaback, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Slaback, 418 West Pine street, had the pleasure of entertaining a group of boy friends Saturday afternoon, at a merry party planned by his mother.

Both Armistice day and Thanksgiving were suggested in the decorative scheme, for many flags and small turkeys were used.

Stanley received a number of pretty and useful gifts from his playmates, who were all members of his class in the fourth grade at McKinley school and in the Spurgeon Memorial Sunday school. After the packages had all been opened, and the gifts admired, the lads joined in a succession of lively games on the lawn, where prizes were secured by Ross Boyde, Winford Brown, George Hammert, Russell Duffle and Wallace Edkins.

Returning to the house at a signal from Mrs. Slaback, the romping lads found a dining-room gay with flags and a large table where places were in readiness for them. At each place was a turkey nut-cup and a small cake with an individual birthday candle. A large birthday cake with nine yellow candles was cut to be served with ice cream, candy and nuts.

Those invited to share the happy afternoon with Stanley, were Masters Winford Brown, George Hammert, Robert Woodside, Wallace Edkins, Edward Evans, Gordon Clark, Billie Biggs, David Hunter, Russell Duffle, Ross Boyde and Oscar Barr.

Parent-Teachers

Executive Board Meets

Mrs. H. L. McKague, president of McKinley P.T.A. called a recent meeting of the executive board at which plans for the year were discussed and decided upon.

One of the things which should prove most interesting and beneficial to the parents was about the parental education and child welfare project being established on the campus at Berkeley. Mrs. Heine read a very interesting article on the subject and it was voted that money be sent to Berkeley for material which should be in the hands of the president for the next meeting.

A short membership drive was started, each child securing a member to receive an individual treat.

Officers on the board were asked to sign an article to be presented to the board of supervisors, asking that a maternity department be installed in connection with the county health department, to lessen infant and adult mortality.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Spurgeon P.T.A. meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the kindergarten room, will feature a play, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," to be presented by members of the 6A class.

First Presbyterian Aid society will meet in the church parlors tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for a day of sewing. Northeast section members will serve luncheon at noon and the business and program meeting will begin at 2 p.m.

Santa Ana Country club members will enjoy their monthly bridge party tomorrow, with luncheon to be served promptly at 12:30, and playing to begin at 2 o'clock. Punch will be served during the afternoon.

Young Matron Is Made Honoree at Pretty Evening Affair

Mrs. Ralph Cole planned a very attractive party as a recent event, with Mrs. Glen E. Welsh, as honoree, and a group of the latter's closer friends, enjoying the pleasure and hospitality of the Cole home at 313 South Sycamore street.

Bridge was played, and honors of the evening went to Mrs. John H. Cridle, who was present with first prize while a second attractive gift was won by Mrs. Frederick C. Elliott. When these were awarded, Mrs. Welsh found that she too was being remembered, but everyone present had a hand in her prize, which was made up of a variety of exquisite little garments for a layette.

While these were being examined and admired, the hostess busied herself with table arrangements of fine linens and rosy-hued candlesticks, preparatory to serving a delectable salad course followed by ices and sweets. She was assisted in all detail of serving by Mrs. Russell Johnson and Mrs. Cridle.

Enjoying the pleasant evening with Mrs. Cole and her honoree, Mrs. Welsh, were Mesdames Russell Johnson, Ralph Roper, Earl C. Granger, Alice Board, Frederick C. Elliott, Charles Frazer, John H. Cridle, and the Misses Mille Galbreath, Louise Bryant, Vena Belle Bryant, Gertrude Jentges and Blanche Hill.

Thanksgiving Plans
At St. Ann's Inn

Everyone who enjoyed Thanksgiving at St. Ann's Inn last year, will remember the celebration staged by "Uncle Cy," and especially the turkeys that gobbled on the lawns while those who gazed at them, "gobbled" in the dining-room.

Well, Uncle Cy drove up to the Inn a few days ago with a load of back-logs for the Thanksgiving and Christmas fireplace, according to Manager Robert L. Bisby, and declared that his turkeys were getting ripe enough to eat, and would be at their prime for the Thanksgiving celebration at St. Ann's.

This year, the Inn gardens will simulate an old-fashioned farm, with the usual shocks of corn, golden pumpkins and other products of the harvest. In the dining-room, a special holiday dinner will be featured from noonday until 8 p.m., and the ornamental bills of fare will serve as souvenirs.

Manager Bisby has asked that dinner reservations be made at as early a date as possible, and these will be filled in the order in which they come. The Friday night following the holiday, will be celebrated with a special Thanksgiving dance with the Ira F. Gay Merrymakers furnishing the music.

Covered Dish Dinner
Of Past Presidents

Mrs. Albert Gardner of 212 Orange avenue, was hostess at the latest meeting of the Past Presidents' club of the Daughters of Union Veterans. The meeting opened at noon with the serving of a delicious pot-luck luncheon at tables centered with huge bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The afternoon was spent in sewing and in fashioning clever Christmas gifts. Those enjoying the affair included Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Mrs. Good Adams, Mrs. Edith Bell, Mrs. Mary Robertson, Mrs. Al Leech, Mrs. Ed Barker, Mrs. Floss LaBounty, Mrs. A. E. Chapman and Miss Bertha Bell.

SYNOPSIS BY BRAUCHER

THE MAKING OF A NEWSPAPER

SKETCHES BY BESSEY

This picture shows one of the steps in converting a picture for newspaper usage. This special camera contains a glass screen in front of the photographic plate which breaks the photograph into little dots. These dots are so small they are hard to see. The man is measuring to adjust the photograph to column size.

By NEA. Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

After the photograph has been made through the screen it is printed on a metal sheet with a solution called an acid resist.

The metal plate is placed in an acid bath which eats away the metal around the dots. The dots have been made impervious to the acid by the resist.

Here is the completed engraving. When printing ink is rolled on the tops of the hills of the plate shown here and printed on paper, we get pictures made up of tiny dots, such as the photographs in this paper. Pictures drawn by an artist, such as this strip, are made without a screen because the drawing is made with lines.

Bridge Players Enjoy Their Favorite Game In Williams Home

A recent evening affair of attractive features was the gathering of a group of bridge players, at the home of Mrs. Vernon J. Williams, 308 West Bishop street.

Guests found their places at the waiting bridge tables, by prettily cards. When these were collected at the close of the contest, Miss Berenice Gohres was found to have high score, and Miss Evelyn Cordes, second. Each received a lovely gift. The card tables were then arranged for serving the appetizing little supper prepared by Mrs. Williams.

Those enjoying the evening form a little bridge club whose members include in addition to the hostess, Mrs. Williams, the Misses Mary Bengen, Evelyn Cordes, Margie Stewart of Anaheim, Della Iman, Irene Nathand, Berenice Gohres and Mrs. William Thomas. Mrs. Ernest Thomas was a guest of the evening.

Ebell Society

Reports from the two recent conventions which occupied the interest of Santa Ana clubwomen, were given at yesterday's meeting of Ebell society, when Mrs. F. E. Coulter, the president, called upon the delegates to speak.

Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. M. J. Marks, who represented Ebell at the district federation held November 7 to 11 at Palm Springs, told in interesting fashion, the various business and social features of the gathering. They were followed by Mrs. S. W. Stanley, former Ebell president, who related outstanding details of the recent county convention held in Orange.

Other matters given consideration during the business session, were the reports from various divisions of the club, after which Mrs. Jack Valley of Los Angeles, was presented to give the second of her monthly book talks. Mrs. Valley proved even more interesting than at her first appear-

ROYAL LIVESTOCK SHOW UNDER WAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—The American Royal Livestock show is under way here.

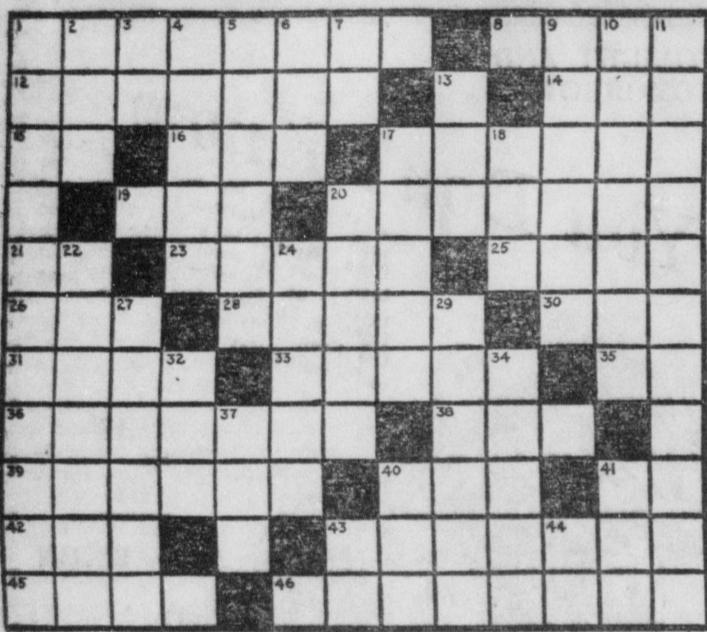

The show that 29 years ago was little more than the annex of a county fair during the next week will be viewed by thousands. Exhibits from more than 30 states and some foreign countries are housed in a building that covers 14 acres. There are more than 100 different beef cattle exhibits this year. There are 30 dairy cattle exhibitors, 51 swine exhibitors, 58 exhibits of sheep and 33 of draft horses and mules.

States represented are Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. British Columbia is also on the list.

German Digging May Be Stopped

CAIRO, Nov. 15.—Germans may be refused further permission to make excavations here in view of the dispute over the bust of Queen Nefertiti, which the Berlin museum insists on holding. The Egyptian antiquities department demands that it be returned to Egypt.

JACK LOCKWELL

"I'm sure some of the best men in the class haven't come, Stan," replied Lockwell. "For instance, Cub Maddox isn't here, nor Price Hargan. We need them both." "I'll say so!" agreed Coburn. "I'm going to make you captain, to act until the team is formed and elects one."

Coburn looked Hargan up after practice. "Sure I'll tell you why I didn't come out," said Price. "The whole affair was engineered to make Jack Lockwell captain."

"Nothing of the sort!" denied Stan. "The captain will be elected by the players. 'Tell it to the Marines!' scoffed Hargan. "Why, you've appointed him already!"

"Well, I didn't see any of the Anti-Lockwell Dubs with the candidates for your team, Jacko," said Darling that night. "Hargan's going to do everything he can to make the team a grand fizzle, and he's strong as Limburger cheese." "And what he's doing smells just as bad," declared Jack. "He wanted to be captain, and I've done nothing to keep him from being chosen." (To Be Continued)

School Teacher Wins Fight Over Whipping Youth

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15.—Miss Hiltje Van De Vie, former Minneapolis public school principal, can now enjoy a peaceful retirement after a jury in district court here brought in a verdict for the defendant in a damage suit by the parents of a small boy whom she is alleged to have administered a severe whipping to.

The charge was that Miss Van De Vie whipped the boy as a disciplinary measure and that as a result the child was ill for three weeks. In her defense the school principal testified that she had administered three or four moderate strokes with a leather strap after the child had become a disciplinary problem in the school. She told the court and jury that she had the mother's permission to do so.

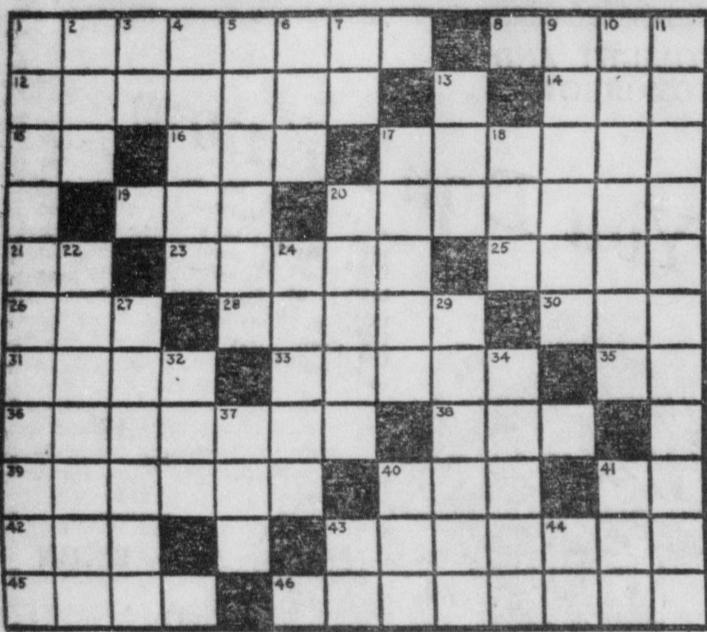

In progress for nearly three years, the case has involved an attempt to have Miss Van De Vie fined by the school board, an attempt to bring criminal action and a suit for damages.

Bank Deposits In California Total $3,043,151,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The 544 banking institutions in California, which include 304 state banks and 240 national banks, support their huge deposits amounting to $3,043,151,000 with a total capital account of $368,749,000, according to a report made by W.H. C. Wood, state superintendent of banks.

Of this capital account $198,000,000 is in state banks, and $175,749,000 in national banks. The actual capital contributed by shareholders is $192,209,000. In addition to this there is included in the capital account $118,855,000 of surplus and $57,655,000 in undivided profits.

SCALPED BY AX

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov. 15.—It was a grim battle while it lasted, between Joe Jefferson and Will Barnes. Jefferson hit Barnes with a heavy rail and the latter retaliated by tossing an ax at his adversary. The flying ax nearly scalped Jefferson without fracturing a bone. Both were taken to a hospital later to court.

CONVICTING THE BURNS AGENCY

We do not believe that any man should be judged without a trial. From a legal aspect, of course, no one should be convicted without a trial. But a great many men are convicted before the court of public sentiment who are not convicted by a jury and frequently they are rightly convicted.

Former Attorney General Harry Daugherty was not convicted by the jury but he was in the minds of the public in this country and he has lost all prestige and power.

We believe the same is true of William J. Burns and his son, of the famous Burns Detective agency. Burns has been devoting the peculiar talent which he has for ferreting out the activities of individuals to demands of wealth and he evidently has come to the conclusion that the ends justify the means for the sake of his clients. The revelations which have been made by a man in his employ are such that they raise a mighty serious question as to the value of evidence that has been produced by the Burns Detective agency in important cases for many years. They were employed not for the purpose of actually bribing the jury, maybe, though that would have been no worse than the work they were doing. But they were actually employed to manufacture a case against the government attorneys so as to cause a mistrial. That is, they planned and hired a man to perjure himself by claiming that he had seen some of the government prosecutors with some of the jurors in the case at certain places. They took the man, whom they were hiring to lie for them, to this place so that he might be familiar with it. The man whom they chose happened to be a patriot and reported at once to the federal attorneys. They told him to proceed so as to get the evidence of the crookedness and corruption of the Burns outfit.

In the meantime it appears that the Burns men went directly to some of the jurors and during the hearing before the grand jury Burns was called in and not knowing that his "perjuror" was an honest man declared that the government attorneys had started the bribery business.

If this man had not been honest, Fall and Sinclair would have gained by this perjured testimony, gaining a mistrial apparently through the crookedness of the federal attorneys.

We believe that Burns is already convicted in public sentiment. Has it reached the point where ill-gotten wealth can be so brazen and bold as to actually defeat justice in this high-handed manner? Fall and Sinclair evidently do not expect to win through a straight-forward trial. We hope the facts will be brought out and the guilt shown, if it is necessary to send the elder and the younger Burns and all of their ilk to the penitentiary.

How many other things have been framed against the accused by Burns? He usually has been against the accused. The accused has usually been a poor man. When the accused was a man of wealth Burns defends the accused for money and hires men to lie and perjure themselves to defeat justice. It may be that some of the evidence that has been given by Burns' henchmen on the strength of which there are men today languishing in jail, should be pretty carefully re-examined.

A VALUABLE INSTITUTION

The Young Men's Christian Association is carrying its message directly to the citizens of Santa Ana and all who read The Register. It knows the work that is performed and is confident that if the general public knows the character of its work, it will support the Y. M. C. A. in every possible manner.

We would call attention to the publicity which has been prepared under the supervision of the Board of Directors in which they take up the nature and plans, costs, resources and obligations of the Y. M. C. A., together with the estimate placed upon it by some of the leaders in various departments of our country's life.

We know the Y. M. C. A. We believe there is no organization outside of the churches which is more deserving of the hearty co-operation and support of the people than is this organization which is devoted to the physical, moral and spiritual development of the young men. We are glad that it is of such a nature that it is not commercialized. This means that it has an altruistic purpose; that it is carrying out its purpose in proportion as the people make it possible to do so. It is a service organization; it is performing a service and hence it requires men like the general secretary, the boys' secretary, physical director, and others. It must get into the employment of these men—servants of the people—to carry on the work for the young men.

We have in mind the developing life of one or two boys who are attendant at the Y. M. C. A. and we know that the value to a single life is worth a large proportion of the entire cost of the organization for a single year. Multiply that by the hundreds and thousands and you have some conception of its value. Look over the activities as described by those responsible for the organization. Note how it fits into the life of the community and how it attracts the lads because of his peculiar interests and furnishes him leadership and environment in which he can achieve the greatest possible benefit.

The one who understands the nature and work of the Y. M. C. A. and has followed it closely, is its friend. The one who does not understand it and who has not been close to its operations through any period of time, may be its critic. But we know his mind is bound to change.

AN UNHAPPY CHOICE

Bombs and guns seem to be the regular election machinery in Mexico. Those who have been opposed to the administration couldn't wait for election day. They had to start on the warpath. President Calles ruthlessly ran them down and all the candidates against General Obregon were either shot in battle or against the wall as traitors. Now the assassin would kill Obregon and some of the alleged opponents of Obregon are hunting for new candidates for the opposition.

As between the leper colony and running politics in Mexico, we would choose the leper colony as the healthiest place.

Great works are accomplished, not by strength, but by perseverance. He who walks three hours a day shall in seven years circle the globe.—Samuel Johnson.

The Cost of a "Thrill"

Kansas City Star

Ralph Scott sacrificed glory for a thrill, honor for disgrace. He turned the pride of his family to humiliation and grief. This Oklahoma World War veteran, winner of the croix de guerre and other citations for valor, turned from the walks of respectability and esteem to strange experiences with strange associates. Thursday he was sentenced to the Kansas penitentiary for a term of ten to twenty years.

No defense was offered. A plea of guilty was entered. Only an explanation was made: Ralph Scott had fallen in with bad company and had participated in the robbery of a jewelry store for the thrill of the adventure. He had been a successful young business man. There was no reason why he should steal; there was every reason why he should not. He chose deliberately. He was caught. He must pay. It is even more fitting that he should pay, and pay dearly, than if he had not had exceptional advantages in life, exceptional incentives to remain honest.

The spirit of adventure, intelligently and respectfully directed, is a commendable spirit. It has many applications, picturesque and otherwise. It may mean the difference between a life of courage and a life of progressive accomplishment. But adventure life of regressive accomplishment. But adventure against the laws and the accepted standards of morality and decency are costly departures. No thrill, nor any number of thrills, is worth the loss of a good name.

Present Day Heroes

Imperial Valley Press

Everybody knows what a hard-boiled age this is. People think only of self and of material gain. Generous impulses, chivalrous deeds and acts of self-sacrifice are obsolete. And yet—

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission recently made 46 awards for heroic deeds. Eighteen of the persons honored had given their lives in the courageous acts for which they were cited. One had saved a boy from being killed by a train, but had himself been killed. Another gave his life trying to save a child from drowning. Another attempted to save two men from asphyxiation in a gas-filled tank. Those are only three of the long list.

It is fine that there should be such a commission to take note of such deeds, not only for the sake of paying honor where honor is due, but for the greater purpose of calling general attention to that ever-renewed list of heroes.

Between the covers of books lie printed stories of heroes of old. We thrill at reading them. On the printed pages of our daily newspapers appear stories just as heroic. The newspaper passes quickly and with it our memory of the stories of courage. It is well that some one takes note of these and that they are recorded where they cannot be lost.

OUR SKIN CHANGED BY DIET, CLIMATE

Unquestionably the human skin has changed in the progress of man from an earlier day to the present. Apparently all races of man have developed from a common ancestry, the diverse types being the result of adaptations to different environments in the course of thousands of years.

It is interesting to know that the length of prenatal life in man and in the higher apes is approximately 280 days, whereas in the lower apes it is 220 days. Anthropologists are inclined to believe that the 60 days' difference is required for the growth of the brain and head of man, which are the parts of man that differentiate him from the lower animals.

In the development of man from a lower stage to his present form he changed his diet. The eating of fleshy foods provides larger and more rapid supply of heat than did the foods man formerly ate.

Evaporation of Heat

One of the functions of the skin is to permit the evaporation of heat from the body so as to secure a constant temperature within. A strong active man in a cool climate may emit 3200 calories of heat per day, whereas a man in a sedentary life under tropical conditions will emit only 1500 calories of heat.

In a consideration of the relationship of the character of the skin in its relationship to questions of race and health, Prof. H. J. Fleure of the University College of Wales points out that the darker colorings of the skin occur where the sun's rays are most powerful, but that it is impossible to classify races of men on this point alone because migration, conquest, and other factors have modified this point as well.

He believes that the earliest types of man had brown skins, the pigment being developed soon after birth as a resultant action of the skin to the influence of light. The earliest forms of man also had hairy skins and indeed the newborn baby of today is likely to be covered with a slightly downy coat.

In Africans the hair on the skin disappears rapidly and there is little of it, such skin permitting more rapid evaporation of heat than one which is covered with hair. Indeed the whole Negro organism, as pointed out by Prof. Fleure, seems to be specialized to secure the maximum amount of emission of heat, and this is particularly the case in regions of moist head and cloud.

Dry Heat, Brown Coloring

Where the heat is of the dry type, there is a tendency toward brown coloring. It is likely that the earliest men had pigmented skins, since theories have been developed to account for the depigmentation of later types.

Part of this resulted from travel into districts of lessened heat. An additional factor suggested by one observer is the fact that persons who travel north would change to a diet containing a considerable amount of salt and salted foods, and that this had to do also with the disappearance of pigmentation of the skin.

In his discussion of the subject, Prof. Fleure points out that the fairest skinned Europeans have a high power of heat evaporation and an activity of body and mind that is more suited to rural than to town conditions.

This type is free from serious tuberculosis when it remains in the country, but is prone to the disease when depressed into industrial conditions. The character of the skin and hair is itself an indication of the general constitution.

Did You Ever See Such a Tangle?*Just Folks
by Edgar A. GuestGIANT STORIES

One time I told a giant tale before she went to bed. But now when evening comes I tell her fairy tales instead.

"A story shouldn't frighten her,

It really ought to brighten her,

You should have been ashamed to talk of giants," mother said.

This giant had an ugly face with whiskers just like wire. He lived upon a mountain top, and kept a blazing fire.

And so one night I chartered him,

And told her how they captured him.

A story not just suitable when little girls retire.

For in the night she woke and shrieked and shouted loud for me. And what the trouble was, of course, I hurried in to see, "The giant came in here!" she said.

"His ugly face was near," she said.

An awful dream, which mother says, should never, never be.

So fairy tales at night I tell, of pretty hills and dales Of dances up and down the hills and on the blossomy trails,

I know I mustn't frighten her,

And so I try to brighten her,

But strange to say that little miss still begs for giant tales.

From the Ranks of Poverty

Yale scientists recently discovered that of the men in Who in America are mostly men of small families. Here and there the cry was taken up across the country to the effect that with our best families thus waning, a dearth of superior blood might be one of the terrible things that are about to happen to America.

Among the various pessimistic fates to which dark views of our future have recently consigned us, we think this is the one that will keep us awake the less. For it so happens in the now and then an up-and-coming young man walks out of a log cabin somewhere in the backwoods (we have Abraham Lincoln prominently in mind), and right into the White House, or some other place equally as prominent in his country's eye.

Henry Ford's Irish immigrant father we do not find listed in any of the old Who's Whos. We have sought for record of John D. Rockefeller's father, too, and find as little for public record. We can go on and on, mentioning Andrew Mellon, Charles Schwab, Thomas Edison and scores of others who now are considered among our great men. The fathers were little seen or heard.

On the other hand, going into the Blue Books of twoscore years ago, and taking count of the illustrious families of that day, we find they have left few descendants worthy of Who's Who ranking today.

Men keep coming up from the unknown. When the top is reached, it seems, a descent is the only thing that remains to think of.

That Kansas jurymen who has served on five murder juries ought to know the ropes.

An election approaching in Mexico, there have been only a few shootings and a very short-lived revolution. Good, old-fashioned elections certainly are on the decline.

Who'd be so little as to hide behind a woman's skirts!

HE SHOULD CRY "FIRE"!—A London restaurant has introduced chess sets. Just what is a waiter supposed to do when presents the bill and both players start concentrating on a move?

Job was strong, but we know what would have broken that old man. How about an evening of good radio in which the announcer reads 116 telegrams stating that the "program is coming in fine?"

It seems President Coolidge called in Senator Fess to explain that what he meant when he said he "did not choose to run" was that he "did not choose to run."

A movie patrons in New York fell asleep during the show and the usher woke him up. What's a man supposed to do in movie theater these days, anyhow?

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THEY do things differently in France. Not only did they recently declare innocent a murderer who confessed he was guilty, but they greeted with enthusiasm, the police in the foreground, Eugene Dieudonne, notorious Apache, on his return to France from Devil's Island, from which he was one of the few who ever escaped. In each case, the attitude had nothing to do with the guilt or innocence of the accused, but was due wholly to the emotional reaction to him as an individual. The first one killed a man who deserved killing. The second had shown admirable qualities of courage and resourcefulness. One naturally sympathized with them both, therefore, "not guilty." Which is very much the sort of thing our juries do, too. Only our lawyers make them bring it under some legal rule.

ITALIANS, recent statistics show, are eating more meat, though they still eat only a third as much as Americans. Improvement in the general health is noticed, as a consequence. Doubtless the difference would be even greater, if it were not for the habit the Italians have always had of eating cheese, as a substitute for meat. We would do well to eat more cheese ourselves. And there is no need of its being "full cream," either. Cheese is the lean and butter the fat of milk. Yet, the difference in the demand is such that we value milk by the butter fat it contains, and grade cheeses by their proportion of butter—which would be much like meat cuts by their amount of fat. Butter is valuable for one sort of food. Cheese is valuable for another sort. They are not interchangeable. And the cheese—especially precisely the despised "skim milk" cheese—is the substitute for lean meat. The Italians have had too small a proportion of meat. We have had too large a proportion. As meat becomes scarcer, and consequently dearer, we shall have some lessons to learn from Italy.

A "silent" railway motor car without engine vibration has been achieved, and during its recent trial run over the Swedish State railways from Malmö to Stockholm, the passenger heard no noise other than that of the wheels clicking against the rail joints. It is the design of a Swedish engineer, Magnus Tackholm of Stockholm, but has been manufactured in Germany. Except for certain motor parts it later will be built in Sweden.

The absence of the noise is due to the fact that the motor is not placed on the same frame as the passenger car itself, but is entirely isolated from it, being slung underneath. The power is transferred to the driving axle from the motor through five different sets of gear, which are kept going all the time, so as to make the driving smoother. The speed attained reached more than 50 miles an hour, while the consumption of fuel, a mixture of benzine and benzol, averaged about eight gallons to the gallon, or about twice that of an ordinary taxicab. Its seating capacity is 60 persons, but a trailer with the same number may be coupled behind. It is a "one man" car and is operated from the driver's seat through electrical connections.

A CANADIAN has asked the Prime Minister to call on the League of Nations to set aside a day of prayer for Chicago. Of course the request was its own purpose, since it will not be done. There is nothing to prevent any one who thinks his prayers would be heard from praying for Chicago now. It certainly needs it. The most valuable prayers, however, are those which one makes for himself, in true reverence and conviction of sin. The very making of such a prayer is its own answer. And Chicago, lacking the repentance and conviction, is hardly qualified to make the prayer, even if it showed the slightest desire to do so, of which there are no indications. So long as booze is the chief end of government, there will be Big Bills.

GIBRALTAR may soon cease to be Gibraltar. It is already menaced from the air. If enough airplanes could get over it, with asphyxiating gases, they could put it out of commission, at least long enough for a hostile fleet to get by. And now King Alfonso announces the project of a tunnel across the Strait, linking Europe and Africa. It is only eighteen and a half miles long, and would cost $34,000,000, which is not prohibitive, even for Spain
